TOWN MEETING 2015

Yentile Farm name here to stay

By LISA KENNEDY-COX
News Correspondent
Lisa@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - Article 52 was petitioned by resident Brian Stickney to see if the Town would vote to name the recreational project slated for 9 Cross St. otherwise known as Yentile Farm, the Yentile Farm Recreational Facility. Stickney made the case that the farm and property had been a landmark to the people of Wilmington since 1934 and had made significant contributions to the Town as well as to the United States Army during World War II.

In addition, the farm had supplied produce to local stores and restaurants and provided Memorial Day geraniums to veterans' graves, hay and pumpkins for Halloween parades, and holiday wreaths to Wilmington churches.

Selectmen Chair and Chair of the Yentile Farm Development Committee Judith O'Connell responded to the petition, "As Chairman of the Committee, I have an obligation to speak." O'Connell went on to say she had "concerns about naming the facility," and because, she felt naming it now,

"would be premature," and asked Article 52 be tabled.

"I'm a big fan of Mr. Stickney, his family and friends," O'Connell added, but continued that it is important to, "uphold and unfold a transparent process, and to focus on the design for now."

O'Connell, who had written a letter to the Editor of the Town Crier, said she knew that the name of the facility could ultimately be named after the Yentile Farm, but felt it should be done under a "comprehensive public process."

The vote to postpone Article 52 until the next Annual Town Meeting in April 2016 was defeated with a 182 to 63 vote, and the Town voted 194 to 61 to name the facility.

Some of the residents felt it should have been tabled, but some, including resident Mario Marchese agreed with resident Mike Sorrentino, who told the assembly "If you want to participate, you're here."

Selectman Lou Cimaglia, chimed in, "If you wanted to be part of the process, you would be here. I say we vote on it."

Marchese said, "I agree to let the people have a chance to speak, but we are here. This is Town Meeting."

Peterson shines in moderator role

WILMINGTON - The Annual Town Hall meeting Saturday went long (about 6 and ½ hours) with some not so surprising moments. Kevin MacDonald, an opponent of most Town-related projects, was ordered out of the assembly by Moderator Rob Peterson early on, and it was no mistake Peterson was clearly in charge.

Saturday was Peterson's first meeting in his newly elected position, but he was no less formidable as an extremely effective Moderator. It was thought by some that Peterson's age (28) would serve as a component in making him a less experienced candidate than his older and more seasoned opponent, Attorney Leigh J. Martinson. If Saturday's meeting was any indication, Peterson's age is certainly not a factor.

MacDonald had been warned several times by Peterson that he was "skating on the edge", and when he addressed the Finance Committee (which had recommended disapproval of all

WILMINGTON FIRE DEPARTMENT CONDUCTS RESCUE TRAINING

"MAYDAY!"

By SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY

WILMINGTON - If you live near 14 Hobson Avenue in Wilmington, this week you may have noticed a dozen firefighters entering a smoke-filled home. The department was conducting fire drills in a home marked for demolition. The building was donated by the homeowner for training purposes.

Windows were covered and a synthetic smoke machine was used. "We pour a chemical in the machine that produces a smoke condition, so we have no visibility," said Wilmington Deputy Fire Chief Gary Donovan.

There is no damage to the home during this process, known as Rapid Intervention Training (RIT.)

Through these drills, the RIT teams learn to remove a downed firefighter after he calls "Mayday!" This distress signal indicates a life-threatening emergency. The word

Town Meeting news

Goodbye Whitefield

By LISA KENNEDY-COX
News Correspondent
Lisa@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - The battle for keeping the Whitefield School was finally lost at the Annual Town Meeting last Saturday, when residents voted that the building, which some considered historic, be demolished.

Article 34 sought to transfer the care, custody and control of the Whitefield School from the Wilmington School Committee to the Board of Selectmen under the management of the Town Manager and to further raise funds for the purpose of demolition of the building.

Historic Commission Chairperson Kathleen Black Reynolds, who feels the building is salvageable, told the assembly, "We don't support demolition of public buildings," and, alluding to the Commission's budget and pushback from the Board, Reynolds added, "Given the limitations we had, we did the best we could."

Selectman Michael Newhouse, who supported demolition of the building, said, "Given the fact that the Board of Selectmen has tabled the issue, has given you some time. The building in its current condition has gone past its usable life."

Reynolds is not the School's only proponent. Resident Frank West weighed in at the meeting. "We have an opportunity to save the building," said West, adding, "We could use it for affordable housing for seniors."

Also, in a letter to the Editor of the Town Crier, resident Dick Waters suggested the building be renovated with the help of existing materials such as available lumber and brick, highway surplus guard rails for the roof, and a raffle to pay for repairs.

In 2014, the Article was tabled in order to give the Historic Commission time to gather information for a report to present to the Board and to educate the community about the School's historic value.

The report was presented at the February 23rd Board of Selectmen meeting by Reynolds, to "highlight the historical significance of the Whitefield School." The more than century-old structure is currently vacant and in need of repairs, including either repairing or replacing the roof, and removal of asbestos.

The Wilmington Historical Commission exists to protect and conserve the Town's historical resources, and been working to preserve those resources and to educate the community with the hope that the Whitefield School would be included.

Since the Town owns the former school, declaration by the Town of a plan for the building was required before the Commission could apply for grant funding. Reynolds cited that there was no Master Plan for the building at that time and the Commission would need an intended use for the building.

"If the Commission knew what the Town's use for the building was, and we knew it on a timely basis," said Reynolds, "then the organization could apply for grants."

Unfortunately, the building has fallen under the category of "demolition by neglect," a situation that occurs when an owner abandons property, and the term is often used to describe a strategy used by an owner looking to develop property.

The Whitefield School was being used primarily for storage of documents. The school's vacancy ten years ago should have begun the process of preservation, however, an attempt to procure Community Preservation funding through the Community Preservation Act (CPA) and to have the building designated historic by the National Register of Historic Preservation by the Commission had been withheld by the Town Manager, said Reynolds. The town has not yet accepted the CPA, which adds a surcharge on property taxes. Tewksbury did accept the CPA in 2006 and has used it to fund a number of projects, including most recently the renovation of its historic town hall.

The Commission also pursued the establishment of a Demolition Delay Bylaw, but the request was denied.

During that meeting, Town Manager Jeffrey Hull told Reynolds, "In some measure, it's in the eye of the beholder whether something is historic or not. I just don't see it as a building for the town to put 3 to 5 million dollars into it. There has to be a calculus to see if it makes sense. I think in this case, I think it makes more sense to construct something new."

At $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, the cost of renovations would indeed outweigh the cost of demolition which is slated at $150,000.

Marathon bomber's lawyers give jury glimpse into family life

By DENISE LAVOIE
AP Legal Affairs Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Lawyers for Boston Marathon bomber Dzhokhar Tsarnaev are giving the jury glimpses into his troubled family as they try to save him from the death penalty.

A psychiatrist testified Tuesday that he diagnosed Tsarnaev's father with post-traumatic stress disorder after he reported being tortured in a Russian camp during the Chechen wars with Russia in the 1990s.

Dr. Alexander Niss said Anzor Tsarnaev reported having panic attacks, flashbacks, anxiety and paranoia while he was treating him in Boston from 2003 to 2005. Niss said he also complained of headaches, dizziness, nosebleeds and other physical ailments, and during one phase of his treatment, was going to the emergency room almost every day.

"He was a sick guy," Niss said.

The testimony came during the penalty phase of Tsarnaev's trial, when the federal jury will decide whether the 21-year-old former college student should get the death penalty or life in prison for the 2013 bombings that killed three people and wounded more than 260.

Testimony was scheduled to resume Wednesday.

Tsarnaev's lawyers are hoping his background — combined with their claim that he was heavily influenced by his volatile older brother, Tamerlan — will convince the jury he does not deserve a death sentence. Tamerlan, 26, was killed days after the bombings during a getaway attempt.

Michael Reynolds, a Princeton University professor, on Tuesday described the turbulent region of Chechnya, Russia, where Anzor Tsarnaev's family had roots.

The Tsarnaev family lived in the Dagestan region of Russia, near Chechnya, and in the former Soviet republic of Kyrgyzstan before moving to the U.S. in 2002. Dzhokhar was 8 when he came to the U.S.

Prosecutor William Weinreb pointed out while cross-examining the professor that Dzhokhar had never lived in Chechnya.

Reynolds gave a history of the North Caucasus region of Russia, including Chechnya, describing its centuries of conflict with Russia. He said Chechen families are very patriarchal, with the father or oldest son having the clear role as the decision-maker for the family.

"It's expected that the younger brother will listen to the older brother," he said.

TAX-DEFERRED FUNDS FOR THE DISABLED

New this year, a tax-advantaged savings plan for long-term disabled individuals is similar to a 529 plan: contributions are not deductible and earnings grow on a tax-deferred basis. Withdrawals are tax-free if the funds are used for housing, education, transportation, job training or other such support issues. Non-qualified withdrawals are taxable and subject to a 10-percent penalty.

The ABLE (Achieving Better Life Experience) accounts will be established by the states and only residents can participate in a state's plan. Contributions of up to $14,000 a year will be allowed for the benefit of those who became blind or disabled before age 26. ABLE accounts can be set up by a parent or grandparent or the beneficiary himself. Account beneficiaries would remain eligible for Medicaid and, if the account is below $100,000, even for SSI.

As with 529s, rollovers are permissible to another ABLE account for that individual or for a disabled sibling. When the beneficiary dies, however, the state can recover some of its Medicaid expenses; the remainder would go to a designated beneficiary, who would owe tax—but not a penalty—on the remaining account earnings.

We keep up with the latest tax-advantaged opportunities, the better to serve you at:

Wilmington named one of fastest strengthening middle class communities

BY JAYNE W. MILLER
News Editor
Jayne@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - NerdWallet identified Wilmington, again, as a top community where the middle class is actually strengthening.

According to a release this week, in recent decades the U.S. middle class has actually been shrinking. Personal finance site NerdWallet decided to find the U.S. cities that have bucked that trend.

NerdWallet determined that Wilmington actually has one of the fastest strengthening middle classes in the nation based on the following criteria

•Middle class share of total household income

•2007-2013 change in middle class share of total household income

•2007-2013 change in average middle class household income

•Average middle class household income

•Monthly housing costs

On a list of 100 U.S. cities, Wilmington came in 19th and was the top Massachusetts town on the list. Others included Saugus (38), Westfield (49), Melrose (64), and Fitchburg (92).

"NerdWallet's results confirm what residents already know - that Wilmington is a family friendly community, invests in student education, offers a variety of quality services for residents of all ages, prides itself on volunteerism and rallying around its neighbors and is close to quality good paying jobs," said Town Manager Jeff Hull. "As word spreads throughout the region about the many attributes here in Wilmington, people are drawn to experience the Wildcat difference."

NerdWallet previously identified Wilmington as the #1 city to buy a home in Massachusetts in March 2014, and the second best community in which to raise a family in June 2013.

Crash on I-93 in Wilmington involved wrong way operator

WILMINGTON - Saturday at approximately 9:30 a.m., troopers from the Massachusetts State Police Barracks in Andover and Medford responded to reports of a wrong-way operator, travelling South in the northbound lanes of I-93 in the Wilmington area. Prior to the arrival of troopers, this vehicle was involved in a three car collision. The wrong-way operator, an 80 year-old man from Lynnfield who was operating a 2013 Acura, was uninjured in the crash. The two other vehicles involved were a 2006 Jaguar, operated by a 25 year-old man from Brighton, and a 2002 Chrysler, operated by a 26 year-old female from Central Falls, RI. Both of these operators were transported to Lawrence General Hospital with minor injuries. The crash also resulted in a fire in the Chrysler. Troopers were assisted at the scene by the Wilmington and Andover Fire/EMS Departments and all personnel were clear from the scene by shortly after 10 a.m., with minimal impact on traffic. The facts and circumstances remain under investigation, and no citations have been issued at this time. The name of the wrong-way operator is not anticipated to be released at this time.

Letters to the editor

Peterson extends thanks

Wilmington Residents,
I submit this letter to offer my sincerest gratitude on having been elected as your new Town Moderator. Words cannot express how thankful I am, and this letter cannot possibly relay the pride I feel for being able to serve the Town of Wilmington, a place I have called home my entire life.

First, I would like to congratulate my opponent, Leigh John Martinson, on a well run campaign. It was evident that Mr. Martinson had a highly organized group of supporters, and he undertook great efforts in his bid to be elected. Mr. Martinson is a highly accomplished attorney, and a well-respected member of this community. I thank Mr. Martinson for his willingness to serve our community.

Growing up in a family with deep roots in this community allowed me to realize, at a young age, how truly special Wilmington is. Perhaps it was my upbringing, coupled my own maturation process, but at the age of twenty-eight I am able to appreciate this community and all those who make it such a special place to live and work.

On Election Day, as I stood beside family and friends, I was overwhelmed with the support I received from those coming and going from the various polling locations. I was humbled by the well wishes, and moved by all those who took time out of their Saturday to come vote. I could not lose that day, for even if the votes were not cast in my favor, the outpouring of support I received from family and friends would have been enough to make the day a success to me.

I would be remiss if I didn't thank my beautiful fiancé, Kelly Cuniff, who was instrumental in my victory. I am fortunate beyond words to have a supportive, caring and understanding person in my life. While I was busy campaigning over the past months, it was Kelly who always kept me grounded and ensured everything was always in order at home. As a quick illustration, to show how supportive Kelly is and was throughout the campaign, she even cancelled her wedding dress fitting which was scheduled for Election Day.

I would further like to thank my parents, Bob and Carla, who selflessly gave their time to my campaign.

From the early beginnings, through the announcement of the results at Town Hall on election night, my parents were by my side. Further, my parents instilled in my siblings and I the love of family and need to stick together. Thus, it should be no surprise that at every step of the campaign trail you could always find my sisters, Catherine and Mary (along with Catherine's husband, Matt, and Mary's boyfriend, Brian), and my brother, David. Also, you may have routinely seen my aunts, uncles and cousins out and about Wilmington holding my signs over the past few months. I believe our family is a true illustration of Wilmington - we stick together at all times, and when someone is in need we come together in support. To my entire family, I love you all, and I thank you for your support.

The much-appreciated support I received from former Town Moderator Jim Stewart is what gave me the confidence to know that I could fill the position he was vacating after twenty-five years. Others who were instrumental in my election, and those I would like to personally thank, are Selectman Michael McCoy, Selectman Michael Champoux, State Representative James Miceli, State Representative Ken Gordon, School Committee Member Steve Bjork and School Committee Member Mary Jane Byrnes. These folks are just a small fraction of my supporters, and to all those I haven't personally named, please know that your support is more appreciated than you will ever know.

Having had the opportunity to moderate my first Town Meeting last Saturday, I can honestly say that I was readily prepared for the endeavor. I hope that in the years to come we can undertake efforts to make Town Meeting even more efficient, and I promise to work towards that goal so long as I am your Moderator.

In closing, I would like to thank all of you for your support in electing me as Wilmington's new Town Moderator. I welcome the opportunities and challenges that the future may hold, and I look forward to seeing you around town and at the 2016 Town Meeting.

Sincerely,
Rob Peterson

Candidates say 'thanks'

Dear Wilmington Community,

We would mutually like to express our sincere appreciation for the support we received during the recent Town Election. Even though it was uncontested, it is humbling to see the 'votes of support' on the work we continue to do on behalf of our children and community, and are looking forward to the next three years!

We would like to also thank our families for allowing us to volunteer our time to this important endeavor.

We congratulate, once again, all the candidates on their wins!

Sincerely,

Manny Mulas

Food for Thought

Little indulgences are good for the soul (and so are Scotty dogs)

Ok, so when I originally embarked on this project, I intended on showcasing local merchants who did a good job with their respective crafts. I offered three things, products that wouldn't break the bank, products that would do your body some good, and products that would satisfy your cravings. Like most people in the restaurant industry, I need to drop a few pounds, which is why I chose this topic. I figured I'd motivate myself and maybe a few of you as well, to at least try some healthy options and help some hard working folks, who try to do the right thing, along the way. What I'm learning is that even healthiest eaters have their indulgences. Being good to your soul is great stress relief; in turn stress relief is great for your body. So using somewhat backwards logic a cheat day or secret indulgence ONCE IN A WHILE may in fact be good for you.

I'm finding out most health experts agree. Our bodies are smart, they can figure out how many calories we are chomping down on average and ration our energy accordingly. By breaking the pattern and accelerating our caloric intake once in a while we actually cause our metabolism to work a little harder. Then it's right back on the stick with some healthy eating and by the time our bodies reprogram we've maximized our efficiency. That's the theory in vogue right now anyway.

I'm sure most of you out there have that special treat that you are not willing to give up. Be it chocolate or ice cream or your mother's home made ravioli, some things are, as I said earlier, good for your soul. I figure if I'm gonna break down and eat some junk food it should at least be the best junk food possible, right? Alright it's time to come clean. I ate a Scotty Dog this week. What the heck is a Scotty Dog you say? Well my friends, it's time you found out.

Now I've written a few pieces on the great American sausage and I know a little about hot dogs. For example it was an ancient Roman kitchen slave who did a shoddy job butchering a boar and discovered the intestines would swell like a balloon when heated. Necessity being the mother of invention, he figured it would make a nice casing to mold the scraps of meat he was allotted for dinner into a decent meal. It was the Germans that brought over the slurry stuffed casings we now call hot dogs. Wieners were all pork and Frankfurters use pork and beef combined. We've all heard the stories of Jimmy Durante talking Nathan into opening that Coney Island stand that made him famous or Babe Ruth's lunch time ritual of having hot dogs and beer before game time. The stories of the hot dog's rise to fame are endless.

So now comes the important part, if you're going to occasionally indulge in a comforting treat at least make sure it's as natural and chemical free as possible. This is why when I really want a dog I travel to 437 Rantoul St. in Beverly, MA. It's a nice drive and I know I'm getting a 100% all natural Vienna Beef, with a natural casing from hot dog connoisseur Steve Scott, owner of The Scotty Dog. Steve has a whole bunch of unique and flavorful sausages and more, but seeing how he originally hails from Chicago's North Side, I always go with the Chicago dog and for $4.25 it's a comfort food that my soul thanks him for.

The Chicago Dog originated during the Great Depression when street vendors put a small salad on top of a dog and called it a meal in a bun. For only five cents you can imagine why they were so popular. Scotty sells the original version complete with bright green Chicago relish, sport peppers, a pickle spear, sliced tomato, mustard, onions and a sprinkle of celery salt, truly a meal in a bun. Oh, I forgot it has to be a poppy seed bun. Traditional, quality driven and fairly priced this is an indulgence worth the scenic drive. To find out more about Scotty's famous dogs check out www.thescottydog.com. And remember only one!

Tewksbury Rail Trails says 'Thanks'

Dear Residents of Tewksbury,

On behalf of the Tewksbury Rail Trails (TRT) Board we want to thank all of you who supported and voted to pass Article 30 to provide funding for the next phase of potential trail development in town.

As many of you know, it is our vision to improve bicycling and walking safety, as well as increase access to trail and hiking opportunities here in Tewksbury, by making use of the roughly seven miles of railroad beds have lain abandoned for close to 90 years combined with existing trails like those along Livingston Street. This prompted TRT to come before Annual Town Meeting previously where the current feasibility study we proposed was passed with strong support. That feasibility study is nearly complete - this new article is for the next phase of the work to realize trails here in Tewksbury.

Passage of this article will provides essential legal title information and professional engineering guidance to further the great work under the feasibility study and prepare the town to make the best informed decisions for trail development going forward.

TRT thanks all of the town groups, board members, and individual supporters who share our enthusiasm for this effort. We are especially grateful to Nancy Reed and the Community Preservation Committee for approving, drafting, and bringing this article to town meeting.

It is TRT's primary goal to increase bicycle and pedestrian safety and access for all of Tewksbury's residents of every age. We greatly appreciate your support for Article 30 and we are excited to move into this new phase.

Sincerely,
Jayne & Pete Miller

"Yentile Farm Recreational Facility"

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Yentile Family and I, we would like to thank everyone that participated, supported, offered comments for or against and voted regarding Article #52, which passed, to name the new park being built on the Yentile property...the "Yentile Farm Recreational Facility". The passing of this article observes and upholds Wilmington's heritage, which is what made this town what it is today.

The meeting and the Public Process seemed to go flawlessly and for that, I would like to thank the Town Manager, Selectmen, Finance Committee and the new Town Moderator Robert Peterson, who handled this post like a professional.

I would offer a special thanks to Chairwoman Judy O'Connell and the entire Yentile Farm Development Committee who have worked very hard to bring this new park to Wilmington. The "Yentile Farm Recreational Facility" will be a beautiful park for people of all ages and will be a facility that sets the bar very high, that others will emulate and use as a model for future facilities like this.

Thank you all,

Brian Stickney

Reverend Rob

by Scott Mullooney

He knows everyone in attendance by name. He can share personal anecdotes about each person in his audience. His followers show up religiously every week, through rain, sleet or snow. The congregation wouldn't miss this weekly gathering for the world.

Electricity fills the air as Reverend Rob steps up to the podium at the front of the room. The crowd murmurs while they fan themselves with their tiny booklets as they wait in anticipation for the evening sermon. Everyone in the group knows tonight will be important. Reverend Rob's weekly homily is always life-changing.

Reverend Rob paces back and forth in the front of the room, a tell-tale sign that he is about to begin the night's service. He commands attention by suddenly bellowing a shockingly loud "How's everybody doing?" It's not really a question. Reverend Rob already knows the answer. The fact that people have chosen to sit in the audience means they are already doing well.

The crowd reacts with a rush of enthusiasm that would put Oprah's studio audience to shame. Reverend Rob responds with, "Is that all you got?" The crowd cheers even louder - Gillette Stadium loud after a Tom Brady touchdown. "That's more like it," Reverend Rob says, smiling because he knows he has the crowd eating out of his hand.

That food metaphor is appropriate because this is a Weight Watchers meeting and Rob is the group leader. His work is no less important than a preacher at Sunday service. Rob offers enlightenment to everyone under his guidance.

Rob understands the people in his audience. He has experienced the daily struggle of losing weight and keeping weight off. He knows what it's like to stand in the background when group photos are taken. He can relate because he's been there, done that.

The meeting hall is full to capacity. Reverend Rob stands at the entry way welcoming members of his flock. He greets familiar faces and newcomers with warm smiles and hardy handshakes.

Rob's "sermons" expound upon the success stories of members in attendance who stick to the plan. However, he knows weight loss is a personal thing. What works for one individual doesn't necessarily work for the next. The plan is flexible and customizable. Success depends on how much you want it. Meeting with others who have similar experiences enables you to find inspiration. Rob knows how to inspire people from within.

My wife and I attend weekly meetings together. These meetings are more than a diet program support group thanks to Rob. Every week we experience a night of live entertainment rivaling anything at the Stoneham Theatre. Rob's weekly pep talks help keep people on track with humor and pathos. His animated personality permeates the atmosphere leaving no room for negative thoughts.

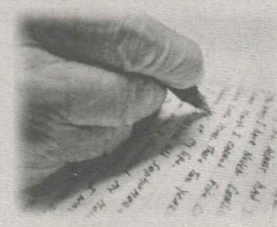

"You lost a pound this week. Perfect! Keep moving in that direction and you'll be at your goal in no time!"

"You gained weight this week but you realize where you can improve? Great! That means you'll do better next week!"

The plan is all about doing something positive and moving forward from week to week without beating yourself up for any small indiscretion in the kitchen that sets you back. One bad week doesn't negate the previous 12 weeks of success.

I learn more things at these meetings than just helpful tips to maintain my weight. Most nights there is laughter - gut-wrenching belly laughter - from a story Rob is telling or a quip from a member who has a personal story to share. On a few occasions, the group has been moved to tears after hearing about other member's success or failure, and the reason it happened. Some nights raw emotions are shared. After listening, you can't help feeling something inside because, after all, we are all human, no matter how much we weigh.

Rob brings a lightness to your soul no matter what your struggles were during the week. After all, your weight is just a number. And a number on a scale is not the total sum of who you are. We have Rob to thank for making us realize we are so much more than that. Can I get an amen?

Letters to the editor

Keeping Tewksbury beautiful

Dear Editor,
The Tewksbury Beautification Committee would extend a giant thank you to everyone who helped with the third Tewksbury Clean Up Day on May 2, 2015.

What an amazing day of pride and energy!

Four dumpsters, 125 bags, 112 participants, 5 TVs, 5 tires, 4 needles, 2 hubcaps, 1 mailbox, and 1 stereo! You never know what you will find out there!

The town looks so much better and the eagerness radiating from the people who signed up or just walked up was inspirational. The Elks, Knights, TMHS Softball, MVP and the Congregational Church all came through with their teams, while the individuals and families, including the mom and her daughter who stopped by at 1pm to ask if they could still help, and cleaned the Heath Brook restored a sense that people really do care.

The Committee would also like to thank the local businesses and individuals who donated supplies and raffle items including Home Depot, Mark Krampian, Tewksbury Police Department, Tewksbury DPW, Altitude Trampoline Park, Orange Leaf, Merrimack Valley Pavilion, McDonald's, AAA, and Southern New England, and Jim Boudreau's Automotive.

Maybe -environmentally- we took back Tewksbury for a day. Stay tuned for the fall clean up, and if you'd like to be added to the notification list, please email us at clean.up.tewksbury@gmail.com.

Thank you,
The Tewksbury Beautification Committee

Mock Crash highlights dangers of distracted driving

Dear Residents,
On April 28, 2015, Tewksbury Memorial High School students, in cooperation with the Tewksbury Police and Fire Departments, Lowell General Hospital Paramedics, and the Boston MedFlight Safe Teen Program created a dramatic reenactment of a fatal car crash for Tewksbury teenagers. The Mock Crash realistically simulated an actual full light and siren response from first responders and an air medical evacuation from Boston MedFlight.

This event cast a very serious light on the danger of distracted driving and driving while under the influence of drugs or alcohol. The students gained a valuable, often not shown, perspective of the serious consequences of dangerous, illegal, and sometimes deadly behavior.

This event was made possible by the commitment and collaboration of the Tewksbury Memorial High School staff and students, (especially the S.A.D.D. Program & Drama Club), the Tewksbury Police and Fire Department, Lowell General Hospital Paramedics, and the Boston MedFlight Safe Teen Program.

Additionally, the Tewksbury Police Department would like to extend its sincere appreciation to the following local businesses and owners for their donations of time, manpower, vehicles, make up, and equipment that made the event a huge success:

• Mr. Joel Deputat of the Tewksbury Funeral Home
tewksburyfuneralhome.com
• Mr. Ken Smith of Penny's Towing

Let's Talk About Hearing

by Loleata Wigall

Traveling

I am traveling to California to visit my parents who are in their late eighties. I will be there over Mother's Day weekend which will be nice. The tenth of May is their wedding anniversary. I believe they will be celebrating 67 years married!

That is quite an accomplishment in itself. They raised five children and hosted many foreign exchange students over the years. They are generous to a fault with family and friends. My sister says they do not hear very well. Their primary care physician has recommended that they each have their hearing tested. They refuse to go, even though one of their daughters is in the field. So, even in my family there are folks who just don't go for a hearing test.

As I head for the airport I think of people who have disabilities including hearing loss. I have encouraged my older patients to ask for a wheelchair or transportation to their gate. Traveling is stressful, and tiring. Walking a long ways from the front door, to the check-in counter, checking your baggage, then walking through security, and then the long walk to the gate is exhausting. And, how many times have you had to then walk a long ways to go to the bathroom, after you arrived at your gate? Taking advantage of the services the airport supplies should be a no-brainer. But, often people are "too proud" or "too young" to ask for help to make their trip less tiring.

Add to that stress of traveling, a hearing loss. Trying to hear announcements that are often too fast, too blurry, and unclear to hear when you have normal hearing is difficult enough. If you have a hearing loss and wear hearing aids, it is even more difficult. I checked the TSA website to look up hearing loss and the only helpful information was to tell the TSA agent that you have a hearing loss and wear hearing aids. Sometimes the metal battery in the hearing aid will set off the alarm.

I am happy that there are so many monitors in the airports now. It is much easier to check for gate changes and flight delays on the TV monitors that are kept current. Traveling when you have a hearing loss can be challenging. But, telling flight personnel who can help you find right gate and flight is a good idea.

Louise Gearty and Roberta Kane awarded students of the Trahan and North Street School who were winners of the Tewksbury Garden Club's annual Arbor Day poster contest on Friday morning. Pictured are Matthew Castonguay, Principal of Trahan, and his students. Front row, 3rd place winners Santaino DiPolato, Mikayla Day, Olivia Maxwell, Evan Galanis, Matthew Ramsey, Joseph Fiorino, Nicholas Viens and Savannah Ristuccia. In the middle row are the second place winners: Quinn Larkin, Scott Miller, Logan Helm, Damian Ortiz, Ryan MacKeen, Kaytlin Gannon, Zachary Brandano and Sarah Johansen. The first place winners in the back row are: Braydon Aylward, Nathan Jolly, Lauren Oppedisano, Alexis Spurr, McKayla Conley, Ava Small and Nathan Cyr. Students were given a gift from the Tewksbury Garden Club, supported by a grant from the Tewksbury Cultural Council and the Massachusetts Art Council. Photo by Maureen Brady

Buzzell Senior Center: asset protection

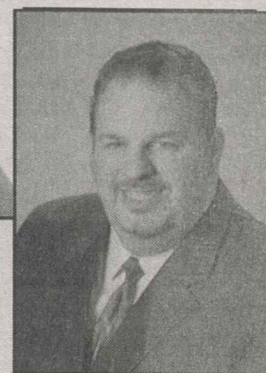

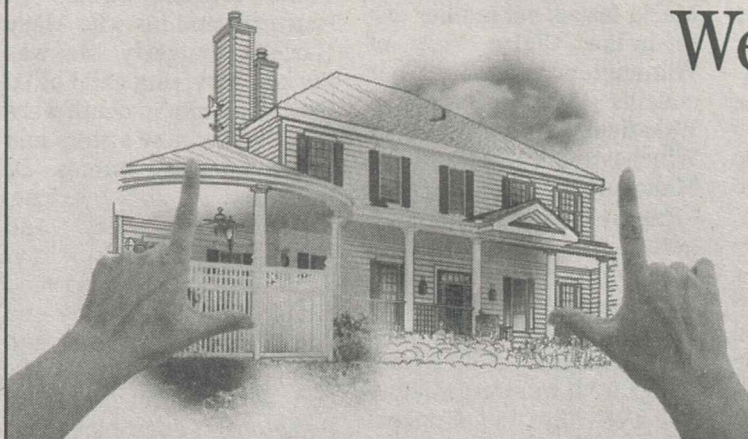

On Tuesday, May 19, 2015, the Buzzell Senior Center will host a free asset protection presentation by Certified Elder Law Attorneys Patrick Curley and Lucy Budman. Entitled "Protect your Home and Savings against Medicaid and Nursing Home Costs," the presentation will take place at 15 School Street, Wilmington, from 1:00 p.m. - 2:00 p.m.

The presentation will focus on specific strategies seniors and their families can put in place to protect themselves for the future against the potentially devastating costs of nursing home or long term care. Attorneys Curley and Budman are among roughly two dozen Certified Elder Law Attorneys (CELAs) in the Commonwealth. So few estate planning and elder law attorneys achieve this important mark of expertise because it requires years of focused elder law practice, peer references from elder law experts, continuing education, and a grueling full-day, bar-style exam.

Paul L. Haggerty Sr., 98

Former Publisher of Daily Times Chronicle

WOBURN - Paul L. Haggerty Sr., former Publisher of the Daily Times Chronicle, President and Chairman of the Board of Woburn Daily Times, Inc., died peacefully at his home Sunday morning, May 3, 2015, at the age of 98.

Mr. Haggerty was the son of the late Woburn Daily Times founder James D. Haggerty and his wife Mary (Lovell) Haggerty. He was the last surviving child of 11. Preceding him in death were one brother, nine sisters and their spouses: James D. Haggerty Jr. and Arlene, Madeline Dooley and Dennis, Mae Gaffney and John, Janice Franson and Elmer, Dorothea Bundy and John, Arlene Blinn and Nelson, Lorraine McCarthy and Joseph, Norma Varey and Robert, Joan McGowan and John, Berenice Sullivan and William.

Paul married his high school sweetheart Ruth (Franson) and enjoyed 72 years of marriage until her passing in 2013.

Paul and Ruth were the proud parents of nine children and were blessed with long lives, which gave them the joy of life with not only their children but with 24 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

Paul was raised at 629 Main St. in the Central Square section, graduated from Woburn High School in 1937, and lived and worked his entire life in the community in which he held such pride.

Just like many when World War II broke out, he joined the U.S. Army. As part of the Americal Division, he served five years, three in the South Pacific, including the battle of Guadalcanal. He would never talk about his experience but always held veterans in high regard. As a member of the American Legion, there was never a Veterans Day or Memorial Day observance missed.

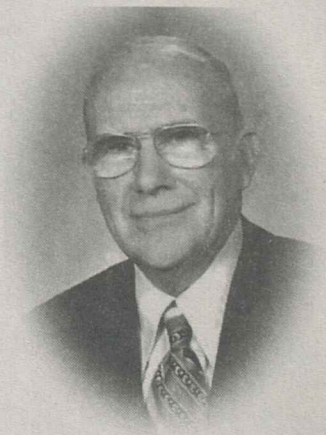

When he returned home, Paul started his family and resumed his printing and newspaper career working with his father. Upon his father's passing in 1952, he took over as co-owner with his brother James. As Publisher of the Daily Times for 40 years, he took his leadership role and responsibility very seriously.

While expanding the newspaper operation, he became highly-respected by his employees and the communities that the newspapers serve. He possessed a great positive attitude and remarkable energy which served him well as he worked his entire life.

While raising a large family and his responsibility at the newspaper took up most of his time, he and his wife Ruth managed to travel extensively through Europe and many times to the Scandinavian countries, especially Sweden to visit relatives.

He was very proud of his home built by his father-in-law Sune Franson in Woburn. He also built a home on Cape Cod in Brewster, which they enjoyed for 12 years. However, it was the lakeside cottage on Lake Ossipee with family that was most enjoyed every summer.

His care for the community was shown in the many roles he undertook. He served on the Board of Trustees of the Woburn Public Library, Choate Memorial Hospital, the Woburn Development Corporation and New Horizons assisted living.

Mr. Haggerty was on the Board of Directors of Tanners National Bank for more than 38 years and was elected Vice-President. Upon the sale of the bank, he was appointed to the board of trustees of Arlington Bank Five.

In the 1950s, he joined with a group of local businessmen and formed the Woburn Chamber of Commerce, which became the North Suburban Chamber. He served twice as president.

The now-Woburn Business Association awarded him the Presidents Award in 2004.

He was also very supportive of all the local service organizations and was a past secretary of the Woburn Rotary Club, and was named a life time honorary member of the Woburn Host Lions Club.

The education system of the city of Woburn was important to him and he served on many committees to that end, including the Woburn High School Scholarship Committee, Woburn schools site committee for new schools and the Woburn High Advisory committee for occupations. While fighting for a statewide bill to give School Committees autonomy, he received recognition for the passing of such bill from the Massachusetts State Legislature.

He had great faith and was an ardent supporter of his beloved church, St. Charles, as well his wife's church, the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Not only could he be seen as usher for decades, he also served on the St. Charles school board for two years. He was past president and member of the St. Francis Retreat Guild and member of the Ecumenical Christian Lay Council, serving as president twice.

He was the devoted father of Paul L. Haggerty Jr., Peter M. Haggerty and wife, Susan, Mark Haggerty and wife, Patricia, Joel Haggerty and wife, Michele, Jay Haggerty and wife, Susan, all of Woburn, Annmarie Estabrook and husband, Jay, of Stewartstown, Pa., Timothy Haggerty and wife, MaryBeth, of Newbury, Jon Haggerty and wife, Ellen, of Reading and the late Jane Haggerty.

Funeral services are being held from the McLaughlin-Dello Russo Funeral Home, 60 Pleasant St., Woburn, Friday May 8, 9 a.m. followed by a funeral mass celebrated in St. Charles Borromeo Church, 280 Main St., Woburn, at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend. Visiting hours are Thursday, May 7, 4 - 8 p.m. Services will conclude with Military Honors and burial at Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made in memory of Paul's late wife Ruth S. Haggerty to the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, 60 Forest Park Road, Woburn, MA 01801.

Looking for the perfect Mother's Day Present?

Give the gift of safety

with free family emergency preparedness.

By SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent
Sharon@YourTownCrier.com

Parents spend much of their lives worrying about the safety of their families - children in particular as they are most vulnerable during emergencies. Should any crisis occur - fire, flood or even terrorism - would you know how to respond? Do you have a plan in place?

This Mother's Day weekend give the gift of safety and peace of mind: Saturday, May 9, 2015, the Massachusetts Freemasons are hosting a Family Emergency Preparedness Day at the Shriner's Auditorium. From 10 am to 3pm there will be presentations, demonstrations and hands-on training so adults and children of all ages will be ready to respond during emergencies and natural disasters.

As a parent of school-age children, I am always talking to them about what to do in an emergency," said Arnie Johnson, Youth Committee Chair for the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. "I think it would be a great Mother's Day gift to have their child trained in CPR, learn First Aid, or go through the Masonic Youth Child Identification Program (MYCHIP.)

MYCHIP helps law enforcement find and identify lost or missing children. A videotape, fingerprints, tooth identification and cheek swab (for DNA) are created in a customized kit for each child so a parent can provide this to law enforcement in the event they need to locate their child.

The DNA can be used by police dogs to help locate missing children, said Craig Erickson, Rockland Fire Department Lt. who will be at the event this Saturday. Erickson works for the National Disaster Medical System, which responds to events like 9/11. Erickson's team sets up emergency hospitals in the field and they were the first medical team on scene after the Haiti earthquake in 2010.

This Saturday, Erickson and others will be providing basic First Aid, CPR and defibrillator training. Children will receive backpacks with emergency and medical supplies and an "Emergency Preparedness Day" t-shirt provided by FEMA and MEMA. Adults will receive resources on agencies to contact during emergencies.

Additional activities to look forward to this Saturday include: boating safety instruction by the United States Coast Guard; meet the Community Emergency Response Team (C.E.R.T.) from the Federal Emergency Management Agency; meet a representative of the United States Department of Health and Human Services' Natural Disaster Medical System; and see a "Jaws of Life" demonstration by the Wilmington Fire Department.

"We will have a vehicle right inside the building," said Deputy Fire Chief Gary Donovan. A tow company donated

Fire and Medflight crews prepare to transport an accident victim from an ambulance to Medflight following a serious car accident in 2013. See a demonstration this weekend of the Jaws of Life, and experience a variety of safety activities, at the Family Emergency Preparedness Day at the Shriners Auditorium. the vehicle which has been in an accident. "It will be damaged enough to show what the tool can do and show an extrication," he said.

The Jaws of Life is used after a car accident and can remove a victim from the vehicle. "We can't move people around if there is an injury - especially a possible spine injury," said Donovan. "We have to move the vehicle around them, preserve the patient's integrity and prevent further injuries." The Jaws of Life is also used when emergency personnel cannot open the vehicle doors. The roof and doors are removed instead.

Car accidents and other emergencies occur year round. Just because winter is over, it does not mean you should be less aware or less prepared. During the summer, Tewksbury Fire Chief Mike Hazel sees accidents relating to outdoor activities. "Camp fires or chimineas out of control, children getting too close to fires, and embers in contact with nearby combustibles," he cited as examples. "Family planning for safety around gatherings is important. Speak with your children about going to gatherings at public places like the Town Common."

If young children are separated from parents it causes anxiety and stress, Hazel said. Children should know in advance what to do in those instances. "They should not move about freely. Only seek help from someone in uniform like a police officer or fire firefighter to help reconnect with a parent."

Just as it is important for fire departments to train for emergencies, families should create escape plans and practice them, said Hazel. "If you have an emergency in your home and there is a need to evacuate, everyone should meet at the same place, at a safe location. When fire crews arrive on scene, it makes a big difference knowing that everyone is accounted for."

These tips and more will be covered this Saturday, May 9, 2015 at the Family Emergency Preparedness Day at the Shriner's Auditorium, 99 Fordham Road, Wilmington, 10 am - 3 pm. Complimentary breakfast will be served as early as 7am and there will also be a complimentary lunch (donations to the Grand Lodge Charity Fund welcomed.) Each child will receive a t-shirt and drawstring backpack with emergency and first aid supplies. The event is free and open to the public.

Wilmington Public Schools students Shine at Math Night

WILMINGTON - Last Wednesday night, May 1st, brought a great event to the town of Wilmington, as the Shawheen Elementary School hosted the Wilmington Public Schools Elementary Math Night. The event, organized by Wilmington Elementary School Math Coordinator Lisa Ippolito and the Math Vertical Team, once again brought out a large and enthusiastic crowd of Wilmington parents and students.

Over 100 students and their families made their way to the Shawheen on Wednesday for a fun filled evening of games and activities for children and their families. The attendees were able to take part in five different activity centers made up of several activities featuring dice games, board games, card games, games with household items, Lego Math and more.

The evening also featured several activities that students and parents will be able to continue to do together at home to help them continue their growth in math and hopefully their love of the subject.

Ippolito, who spent many hours preparing for the event, was joined during the evening by many teachers from each elementary school in Wilmington, each of whom volunteered their time for their students in Wilmington.

For Ippolito, it was not hard to identify her favorite part of the evening.

"The best part is definitely seeing the joy on the kids faces when they are engaged in the different activities and seeing how happy they are as they are leaving after a fun night," Ippolito said. "The other piece I really enjoy is in the next several days after the event, hearing from many students what their favorite activities were and how much fun they had and what events they are still doing at home with their parents."

Ippolito also knows that the night would not have been nearly as successful without the efforts of the Math Vertical Team, the teacher volunteers, or the seven Wilmington High School students who volunteered their time to run several of the activities.

"I want to thank all of the volunteers who donated their time to make this a great event," Ippolito said.

Without their efforts, we would not be able to have an event like this.

Peterson takes the reins four of MacDonald's Articles) in a disrespectful manner, all bets were off.

"I laid out the ground rules in the beginning. I call you to order once, but I actually gave him more than once," Peterson said of MacDonald.

MacDonald had petitioned to repeal the vote taken at the December 2014 Special Town Meeting to authorize the Board of Selectmen to borrow money to acquire the Elinor M. Ristuccia Memorial Arena (Article 54). Former Town Manager Michael Cairra read the MacDonald's petition, as Peterson had to recuse himself for any articles related to the Arena.

When asked why, Peterson told the Crier, "I didn't have to, recuse myself, but because I coach Wilmington Youth Hockey, last year, the Pee wee 3 Team, and this year, the Pee wee 1 Team, I decided it could be perceived, as a possible breach of ethics."

"I still would have been fair and impartial, but thought it best to recuse myself and go from there, to remove any issue," said Peterson.

Articles MacDonald petitioned (including Article 54), such as establishing a by-law to require Town officials to post all ongoing contracts and future contracts on the Town's website with 72 hours of signing the contract (Article 53), and to see if the Town would vote to suspend all spending for the development of the 9 Cross St. property known as Yentile Farm (Article 56) were defeated.

In addition, Article 55, petitioned by MacDonald to see if the Town would preserve the former Wilmington High School from demolition was called out of order as the demolition of the old high school had already begun.

MacDonald was not the only resident put in line by Peterson. Resident Bruce Peters, a senior, responded to Article 23 adversely. Chair of the Board of Selectmen and the Yentile Farm Development Committee had just completed a presentation to the assembly outlining the proposed recreational facility referred to as 9 Cross St.

"I hope I will be talking for everyone who has retired. The taxes [in Wilmington] are so high, my wife is thinking of moving," said Peters, adding, "I think we're not quite ready to do this project. My daughter learned here with one playground," and began to address the Ristuccia purchase. Peterson intervened, "Stick to Article 23. You're venturing off," said Peterson.

Peters replied defensively, "If you don't want me to talk, I won't." Peterson reminded Peters, respectfully, "You need to stay germane to the issue."

When Peters began yelling, Peterson told him, "Please sit down, sir. Your discussion is over."

Peterson brought toughness and humor to the meeting, and being his first time, made a few missteps which he handled with aplomb. At one point he said that $600,000 will be used for the Memorial Day Parade, and called Town Manager Jeff Hull the Town Moderator. Quickly noting the mistake, Peterson said, "I'm the Town Moderator, he's [Hull] the Town Manager."

Resident Frank Downs yelled from the back, "If you're giving $600,000 to the Memorial Day Parade, you will be Town Manager!"

Peterson made the correction that the actual money going toward the parade is "$6,000 not $600,000," adding to laughter, "That would be one heck of a party."

Wilmington Democratic Town Committee's Caucus, June 1

Democrats in Wilmington will be holding a caucus on Monday, June 1 at 7pm at the Wilmington Fourth of July Building (142 Middlesex Avenue) to elect 11 delegates and 4 alternates to the 2015 Massachusetts Democratic Convention, where Democrats from across the state will gather to meet fellow activists and hear from elected officials.

The convention will be held on Saturday, September 19, 2015 at the MassMutual Center in Springfield.

The caucus is open to all registered Democrats in Wilmington, and the Democratic Committee welcomes participants.

Delegates will be divided equally between men and women, and all ballots will be written and secret. Youth, minorities, and people with disabilities who are not elected as delegates or alternates may apply to be "add-on" delegates.

The Fourth of July Building is handicapped accessible. Details on the rules can be found at www.massdems.org.

The committee normally meets on the first Monday of the month at 7pm at Wilmington Community Television (10 Waltham Street).

For more information on the caucus or the committee, please contact Gary DePalma at 978-658-2330 or gbd87@comcast.net, or check out their website at www.wilmingtondems.org.

Town manager Jeff Hull opens the "Welcome to Wilmington" reception with a few comments. The turnout was quite impressive and the town plans on another such event on November 30th of this year. The Wilmington Public Library hosted the event and many town departments, businesses, and churches were represented, including the Town Crier, Subway, Abundant Life Church, The Wilmington Arts Council, Farmers Market and more is typically used three times in a row so it is clearly identified during fires and other emergencies.

The RIT team's only function is to stand by and be the first in a building after a Mayday call. Then their sole responsibility is to locate and remove any downed firefighter from the building. "It could be that something fell on them or that they are disorientated; it could be various reasons," said Donovan.

The scene is set to recreate a realistic scenario. "So we could work in conditions that simulate an actual fire," Donovan explained. "All we are missing is heat and fire."

The firemen wear full gear, air packs, respirators and their RIT equipment which contains spare air for the downed firefighter. Equipment packs can be as heavy as 40 pounds. They also follow a safety line which has been tied off outside. This is their lifeline so they can find their way out.

This is the first year Wilmington has funded the RIT training. So far there have been no major structure fires this year Donovan said. But there have been various car fires and natural gas issues with snow and ice.

This information is typically included in the Town Topics letter which is sent out with tax bills every quarter. Topics include fire-works, summer barbecuing and fire-related issues.

The RIT training was conducted three times this week. Almost all members of the department will receive training, Donovan said. The department also trained at the old high school prior to demolition. "They let us practice opening doors, breaching walls - smashing through walls with sledgehammers - and forcing doors open."

The training was opened to the Massachusetts Fire Academy instructors and firefighters from other towns. Frequently Wilmington firefighters are called to other towns as their RIT team. "It's important that everyone is cross-trained the same on how the operation works," Donovan explained. "We go by the Massachusetts Firefighting Academy template. We follow their protocols."

This Saturday, May 9, 2015, come see Wilmington Firefighters perform a Jaws of Life Demonstration at the Family Emergency Preparedness Day. The event will be held at the Shriner's Auditorium, 99 Fordham Road, Wilmington, 10 am - 3 pm. Each child will receive a t-shirt and drawstring backpack with emergency and first aid supplies. The event is free and open to the public. See this week's Lifestyle section for more information.

WILMINGTON
RELAY FOR LIFE
Purple lights on the Common

WILMINGTON - The American Cancer Society uses purple to symbolize survivorship. Today in the US there are almost 14.5 million cancer survivors, and this month Wilmington will light the Common purple to honor these people. The lighting is coinciding with the countdown to the town's annual Relay For Life which will be held on June 19th at 5:30 PM at the Middle School. That event also honors survivors. The Relay is actually not an athletic event. It's a family fun gathering where teams of people simply take turns walking laps around the designated campsite area. Relay is an overnight experience with food, music and entertainment for all.

Everyone is invited to attend and share in the fun, even if not registered with a team. For more information, please contact Julie Rauseo at 781-314-2668 or at Julie.Rauseo@cancer.org. You can also visit www.wilmingtonrfl.com.

Mailey's enjoy Coach-Player relationship

Father-and-Son turn up aces on the court

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

From the outside, it looks pretty good being the coach's kid. And sometimes it probably is, if a parent shows favoritism to their son or daughter, perhaps allowing them to be on a team or in a position they do not really deserve.

But then there is the other side of it, where no matter how hard a player works or how talented they are, they have to prove to everyone else that they have earned their place on the team, and that they are not there simply because of being the coach's kid.

That's how it was for Wilmington High Tennis star Robbie Mailey at the start of his high school career, when he earned his spot on the team as just a freshman, under the direction of his father, Rob Mailey.

But the younger Mailey showed he belonged right from the start with the Wildcats, eventually winning his teammates over with a strong freshman season, and he has only gotten better since that first season, playing the last two seasons at second singles.

This year he is one of the Wildcats co-captains, along with fellow senior Justin Wright. Currently Robbie has posted a 5-2 record for the Wildcats, who are 4-3 on the season as they seek the state tournament berth that has eluded them by one match in each of the past three seasons.

"When I first started, the first couple of weeks were kind of difficult, because I think people didn't like that I was taking a position as just a freshman," Robbie said. "But then I think the kids realized what I could do, and that I could help the team."

Perhaps the person he had to win over most in those early days, and even in the couple of seasons of his career at Wilmington High was his coach. One thing the elder Mailey could not be accused of with his young star -- who happened to be his son -- was giving him any special treatment.

"It's not easy to separate the two, being father and coach," Rob said. "For the most part, I felt like I was harder on him than on the other kids because I wanted him to earn what he got. We had our ups and downs, but once he started to prove himself, it became easier for us. I definitely didn't play favorites with him. If anything, it was the opposite."

Robbie acknowledges that it was difficult at first playing for his dad.

"I think I have matured more through high school. We don't argue any more this year or last year," Robbie said. "The first year was hard for us. He had to calm me down when I did not play well. Overall it has been a very positive experience. I've grown to be more respectful and he knows when to push the right buttons to get the best out of me."

Rob has been doing that for as long as he can remember, as he started to teach Robbie the game when he was about seven or eight years old. Rob, a four year varsity player at Masconomet Regional during his high school days, eventually began bringing his son to work with him at the Willows Racquet Club in North Andover, and teaching him the finer points of the game, along with the other instructors at the club.

"I come from a tennis family. My father played and when I was growing up, we lived in a two bedroom ranch, but my father put a tennis court in the backyard and I grew up a tennis player," Rob said. "When Robbie came along, I started him slowly, and he seemed to like it and once he got to the Willows, he got to work his way through the ranks and play against some pretty high powered kids that really helped him improve."

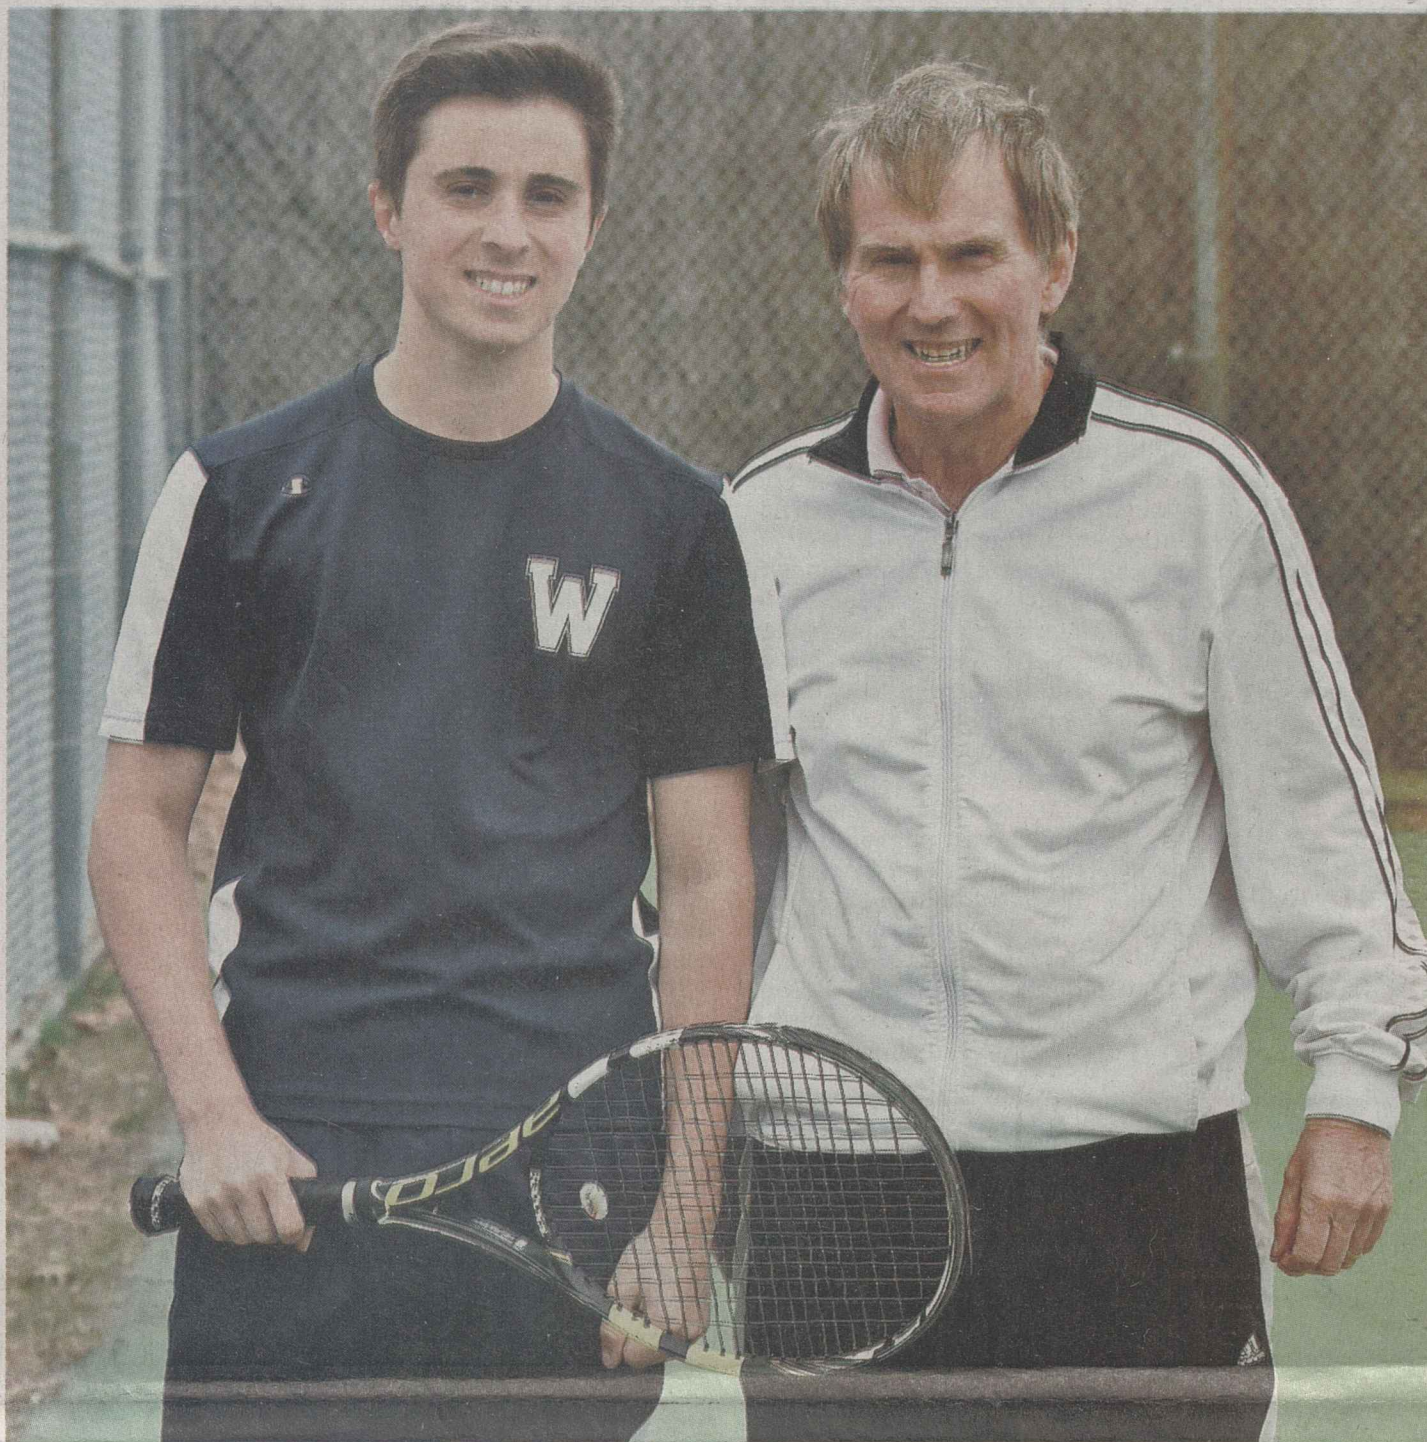

Robbie, who also played hockey growing up, is thankful that his dad opened up the world of tennis to him, and knows he would not be the player he is today without his guidance.

"If I didn't have my dad, or the other coaches at the Racquet Club, I probably never would have played tennis," Robbie said. "It is not the most popular sport in the world, but I love it and the coaches were always great to me. I'm glad my dad introduced me to it."

And he is also glad that his dad is still his coach, as he and the Wildcats strive for the post-season. In each of the past three seasons, the Maileys and the rest of the Wildcats have seen their team come up just one win short of the .500 record needed to qualify for the tournament, finishing 8-10 each season.

But this season, Robbie is confident that with the leadership his father and coach is providing, they can pick up that extra win or two they need in order to qualify.

"It has been kind of frus-

Wilmington High Boys Tennis Coach Rob Mailey has coached his son Robbie, the team's No. 2 singles' player this season, for each of the past four years. (photo by JoeBrown.photo).

trating to miss it by one match the past few years, and everyone has it in mind this year, but mostly we are just trying to have fun," Robbie said. "We like to have a lot of fun and my dad does a good job of making sure it is fun for us. It is a great atmosphere around the team this year. All of the kids are pretty close."

One of the reasons the team has grown so close this season has been the efforts of Robbie and fellow co-captain Wright. The elder Mailey has seen the effect they have had on the team.

"Justin is really a leader by example, whereas Robbie is more of the spiritual leader for the team. He helps get the kids fired up," Rob said. "It's a good combination, and I think the other players look up to them and they set a good example."

For Robbie, being a team captain is a job that he truly loves doing.

"As captain, you want to make sure you are there all the time, at every practice, and be a leader for the team. I try to do that, and I enjoy that," he said. "It helps having Justin. He is a great friend to everyone on the team and he is probably the best player we have. He definitely always knows the right thing to say, and he also leads by example."

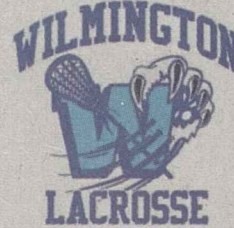

Whatever happens with the tennis team this season, the Maileys have enjoyed their time together with the team. But just for a moment, the coach allowed himself to take pride in Robbie as not just a player, but as his son.

Robbie will head to Bryant University in the fall, and while Rob will miss the tennis player, he has tremendous pride in what his son has accomplished.

"He has grown up and matured so much as a student as just as a person," Rob said. "That's what I am proudest of. Coaching him has been a growing experience for me and for him. He has grown as a tennis player, but more importantly as a person. He is just a good kid, and I am very proud of him."

Junior pitcher a big name across the country

Recruiting process pretty daunting for Gillis

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - Ever since he first put on a Wilmington High Baseball uniform, Jackson Gillis has received more attention than any ballplayer in the last few decades. That attention has gone from local in-town talk to national talk where Gillis is among one of the top recruits on a number of elite college programs and he's just a junior.

Name the school - any ACC, SEC or PAC-12 program, has scouted Gillis whether it's been with the Wildcats over the last three years or as a member of the East Cobb New England Expos team where over the last two summers he has competed in the WWBA World Championships in Florida.

The 6-foot-3, 200-pound left-hander throws anywhere from 87 to 91 with his fastball, has a devastating 12-to-6 curveball and a change-up in the vicinity of 77 miles per hour. He's legit, the attention is legit, but the question is how is the teenager dealing with it?

"It's nice to have the attention, but I try not to let it distract me from my ultimate goal of playing college baseball," he said. "I owe all my success thus far to my parents, my (off-season) coaches Matt Blake, Derek January and Matt Antonelli, and (other) mentors.

"I especially have to thank Ryan Leahy of Recruiting Edge Baseball. Ryan has been helping me deal with all of this from making recruitment videos, to what schools are a good fit, how to pitch my game, and how to deal with all that comes along with the recruiting process and how to not let it distract me. I feel with the help of my parents, coaches, and Ryan, I have handled it very well.

"Even though it can become overwhelming at times, I am very blessed to be in the situation I am in and cannot thank these people enough for getting me to where I am. As of right now I am mostly focused on getting better everyday and helping my teammates at Wilmington High School win the (Middlesex League Freedom Division) championship and make some noise in the state tournament hopefully."

Currently Wilmington is 5-5 this season and Gillis is 0-1, losing a 2-1 heartbreaker where he tossed a no-hitter. He also struggled with his command in the team's season opener.

Last year as a sophomore, Gillis emerged as one of the state's best pitchers finishing with a 7-2 record, including an 0.86 ERA with 102 strikeouts in 57.1 innings. He was named to the Boston Globe, Boston Herald and Massachusetts All-State teams.

He then went on to pitch in Florida for the second straight year, all the while working with Leahy and others including Blake, who runs Cressey Performance, an Elite Training Facility in Hudson, Mass which has produced MLB talent including Worcester's Tim Collins, who is with the Kansas City Royals.

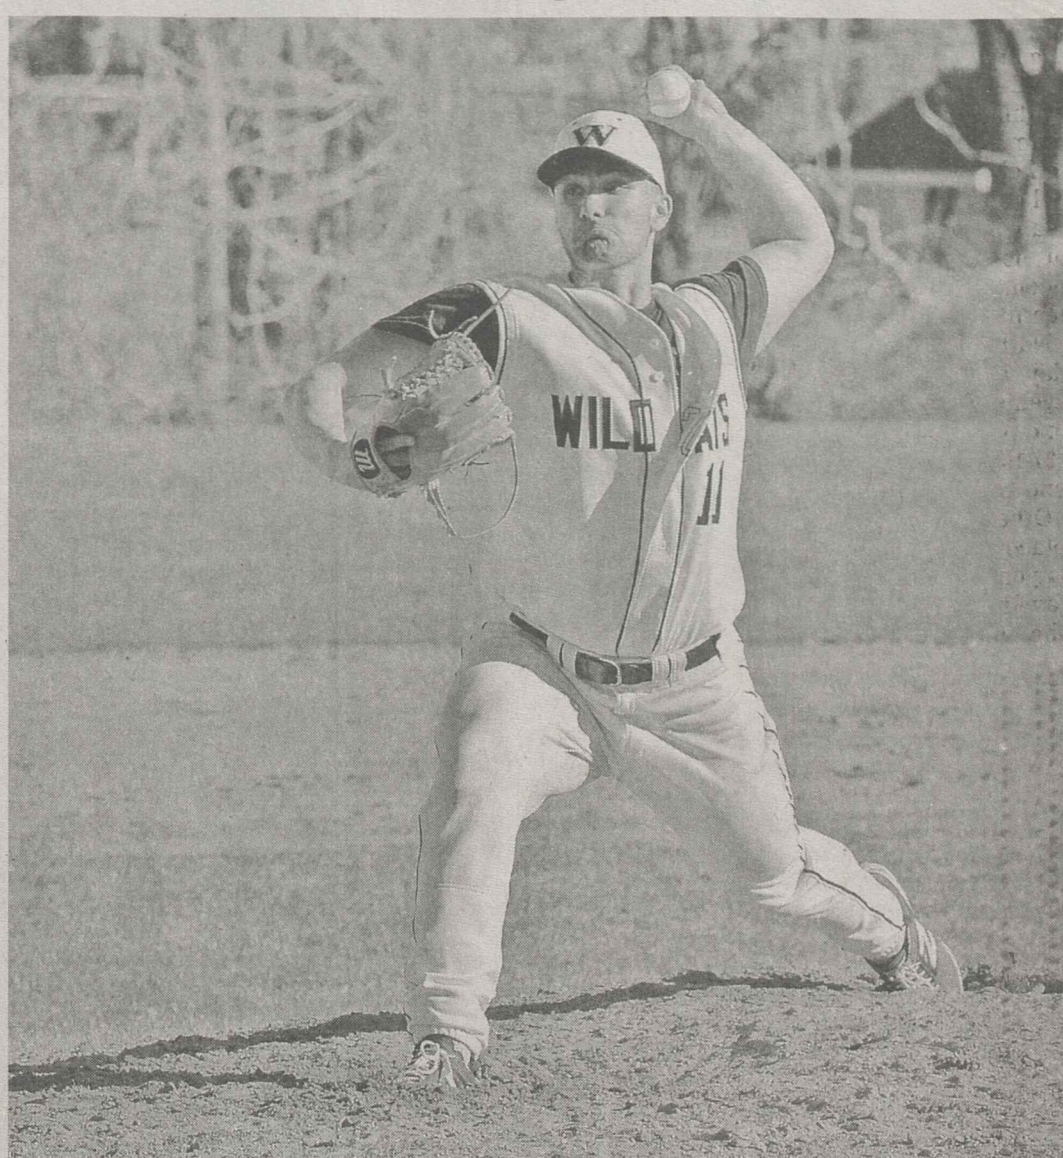

The exposure of pitching for the Wildcats and Expos, and working with Blake, Leahy and others, has helped Gillis get that attention from across the country.

"This recruiting process has been very good to me," he said. "I have visited Vanderbilt University, University of Louisville, Bryant University, University of Pittsburgh, Boston College, Penn State University, St. John's University, and hope to visit University of Virginia, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, Wake Forest University, Arizona State University, and a few more schools.

"I am very interested in playing in the ACC, SEC, or PAC-12 and have received offers from a few schools in those conferences. All of these programs have a lot to offer both academically and athletically and all have beautiful facilities."

Gillis was asked what he's looking for in the college he selects.

"Some goals I have when it comes time to go off to college is work hard on and off the field, stay on top of academics, and win," he said. "I'm not sure what I would like to study yet; probably something along the lines of liberal arts or communications.

"I am blessed to be in a situation where baseball is helping me get a great education, and grow as a person on and off the field. I am hoping to land at a school in the ACC, SEC, or PAC-12."

Up and Down season continues on the diamond

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Baseball team continued its season trend this past week of taking one step back, one step forward and another step back.

The Wildcats were trounced by Belmont, 9-3, topped Arlington 10-3 and they were defeated by Winchester 9-2 on Monday, bringing the team's overall record to 5-4.

"It's definitely been up and down season (to this point)," said head coach Aldo Caira. "Win two, lose two. Win two, lose one. Win one. It's a definite pattern that we need to snap out of if we're going to make any noise in the second half of the season.

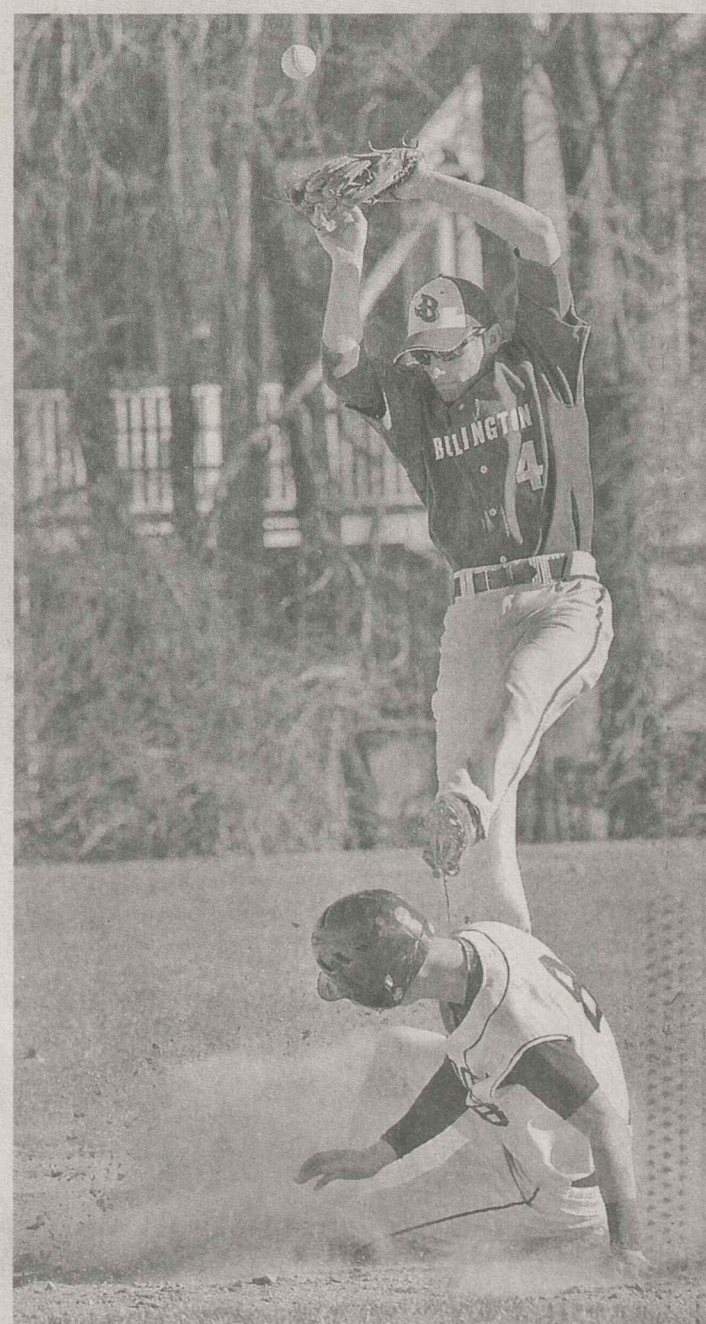

"It seems that the games that we have won, we've won with authority and the games that we lose we're just not in it from the start. I'm not sure if it's over confidence or team chemistry (problems), but what I do know is that these kids have the ability and now they just need to relax and perform."

People form all kinds of different opinions when it comes to "Team Chemistry" whether it's important, non-important, overrated or underrated, and Caira said that he feels that there is something missing with this year's team.

"When it comes to short seasons like we have (playing) in the Northeast, team chemistry means a lot," he said. "Last year's team just came together as a whole. Through the first half this season it just doesn't seem to be the same. Don't get me wrong, I have a group of great kids. Not one of them

Tennis team inches back to .500 record

sports@yourtowncrier.com

A pair of big wins by the Wilmington High Boys Tennis team this past week pushed the Wildcats record over .500 for the first time this season. The two victories pointed the team on the right path as Wilmington takes aim at a state tournament berth as they near the midway point of the regular season with a record of 4-3.

In the Wildcats most recent win, a 3-2 victory over non-league rival Billerica last Thursday, they got several outstanding efforts with some new players contributing to the win.

"That was a hard fought match," Wilmington coach Rob Mailey said. "As coach, I made the decision to sit some of our regular players and lo and behold we ended up in a 2-2 match, but we stepped up and got the win. I was glad that my decision did not cost us the match."

In first singles, senior co-captain Justin Wright suffered a 7-6, 6-2 loss despite playing very well.

"Justin played well, but he played a kid who just hit everything back," Mailey said. "It was a frustrating day for Justin. We have all had them."

In the other singles matches, senior co-captain Robbie Mailey won in straight sets 6-1, 6-2 in second singles, while Liam Reynolds suffered a 6-4, 4-6, 6-0 loss in third singles.

The first doubles duo of senior Mike Marcinkowski and sophomore Evan Meyers captured their match in straight sets 6-1, 6-1, leaving the overall match in the hands of a pair untested players in Zach Marcinkowski and Zach Ayvasian.

It could have been a difficult decision for Mailey to deal with if the Wildcats had lost, but the young do stepped up and captured a clutch 6-4, 6-1 victory to secure the team's win.

"That was a big win for us," Mailey said. "It was nice to see them come through like that."

The day before against Stoneham, the Wildcats had been dominant, rolling to a 5-0 victory.

In that win, Wright had rolled to a 6-0, 6-1 victory in first singles, while Robbie Mailey had taken a 6-3, 6-3 win in second singles. Meanwhile in third singles, Liam Reynolds had fought back from an early deficit to earn a 4-6, 6-0, 6-0 victory.

"Liam has been playing very well lately," Mailey said. "I have been very impressed with him."

In doubles action, junior Ted Miele, in his first varsity match, teamed up with junior Mike Gake to pick up a 6-3, 6-3 win in second doubles, while Jonathan MacKinnon and Vieira took their first doubles match, 6-0, 6-1.

"That was a very good day for us," Mailey said. "It was nice to see us get a comfortable win like that, and as a coach if we can get a win and at the same time get some different kids some playing time, it is all the better."

Up and Down season continues on the diamond

has given me or my staff any kind of trouble. We just seem out of whack sometimes and I think it has to do with our situation this year.

"We are really like a bunch of nomads. There is no time in a locker room to bond, we have to travel to our home field and even on away games we have to get across the street to get the bus. Most kids only have a very few minutes to get ready before we take off.

"And I know it's because of all the construction and we'll be better off when things get back to normal next year, but it just makes things that much harder for this group of guys. I do feel confident that we can bounce back and have a great second half. We're just going to have to concentrate more, relax and play our game and we'll be fine."

In the win over Arlington, Wilmington was led by the performance of left-hander Matt Woods, who improved his record to 3-0. He tossed six hit ball with five strikeouts. He was helped out offensively by a number of teammates including Brian Cavanaugh, who had two hits including a three-run triple, Graham Smith smacked a home run and scored twice, while Jackson Gillis, Danny Gracia and Jaime Hill each had two hits and combined to knock in three runs.

On Monday, Wilmington traveled to Winchester and the Sachems were able to score some runs early off freshman pitcher Gracia, who fell to 1-1 on the season.

"They just hit everything that he threw," said Cairra. "He had the same velocity as his game against Stoneham but he just got the pitches up in the strike zone and it hurt him. He did keep his composure which was kind of amazing for a freshman."

"He finished the game at shortstop and made two pretty nice defensive plays for us. It's learning curve for him and you can tell that he'll get there. Everything he experiences this year is going to make him that much better for us the next three years."

Winchester scored eight runs early on, before Wilmington's relief pitchers did a real nice job of giving up just one run in the last four innings. Offensively, Smith finished 3-for-4 with a run scored and a stolen base and Peter Daly was 2-for-2 with two doubles and scored a run.

In the loss to Belmont, Smith was 1-for-3 with a double, stolen base and scored a run and senior Zack Abbott came off the bench and had a pinch-hit single in the seventh inning.

Wilmington faced Burlington on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime and then return home for Saturday against Tewksbury at 12:30 and Wakefield on Monday at 3:45, both games at the North before going back on the road next Wednesday to face Watertown.

Boys Lacrosse team drops two games, fall to 1-7

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

The Wilmington High Boys Lacrosse team continues to put up strong efforts in every game, but is still struggling to find the win column, as they dropped a pair of games this past week by identical 14-7 scores to drop to 1-7 on the season.

The Wildcats most recent loss came on Monday afternoon to Arlington in a game where coach Fran Peters and his staff really felt like their team had a very good chance to win.

"Arlington is not that great of a team," Peters said. "This was a game where all of our coaches felt like we could win, but we were sluggish right from the very beginning. It was hot out and both teams had to deal with that, but they got a couple of tough goals on us and it just became very difficult for us to come back. They were just better than us on that day and we got beat."

Senior attack Matt Penney led the way on offense for the Wildcats with four goals, while senior midfielder Steve DeFuria had three and freshman Tommy Robarge had one.

In their previous game, the Wildcats had suffered a loss by the same score to Belmont, with DeFuria leading the way with three goals, while Penney had two and senior attack Rob Fullerton also had two.

Sophomore Harley Monteiro played both games in net for the Wildcats, and continued to impress Peters with his play, even as he continues to just learn the game and the position.

"Harley is doing well in net for us," Peters said. "The scores don't necessarily seem like it, but he is making some big saves for us in every game. For a second year player who never played goalie before, he is doing very well. He still has some work to do as he gets more experience, but he is doing well."

One problem the Wildcats have had is on offense, where with the exception of stalwarts Penney, DeFuria and Fullerton and more recently freshman Bobby Lord, they have had a hard time finding the back of the net.

Injuries, such as the shoulder injury that will keep midfielder Chris Pennie out for the rest of the season, have not helped the Wildcats cause, but Peters says that others must step up. The good news for the Wildcats is that help appears to be on the way.

"That's a problem for us. Our freshmen and sophomore players have to get used to the speed of varsity," Peters said. "It's one thing to do it at the freshman and JV level, but it is different at varsity."

But Tommy Robarge has started to come into his own as of late and Bobby Lord has been great when he has been in there. And we are getting (sophomore) Tyler DeJesus back from injury, so we are seeing some other guys who can step up for us."

Peters had high expectations for this team heading into the season, so he is somewhat surprised to see them sitting with a 7-1 record at this point. Still, he sees better days ahead.

"I am disappointed in the record, but not disappointed with our effort," Peters said. "Our players are giving their all, they are just not getting wins. We haven't been able to put together a full and complete game from the opening face-off to the end. Once we can do that, we will be all right and the wins will start coming."

Two ugly losses and one win puts Lady 'Cats at 5-5

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

WILMINGTON - Much like their counterparts -- the WHS Baseball team -- the Wilmington High School Varsity Softball team has also had an up and down first half of the season.

This past week the Lady Wildcats had ugly losses to Arlington 16-4 and Winchester 9-5, sandwiched between a 12-2 win over Belmont.

The 1-2 week puts the Wilmington at 5-5 on the season.

While the baseball team was slated to be a contender during the pre-season, the softball team's identity wasn't known because most of its starting players are freshmen and sophomores, thus there's a strong understanding for the up and down season.

In the team's five wins over Somerville (two), Watertown, Stoneham and Belmont, Wilmington has outscored those teams 60-13. In the team's five losses to Burlington, Melrose, Wakefield, Arlington and Winchester, the 'Cats have been outscored 67-18.

All of that being said, the very young and inexperienced Wildcats have a pretty good shot of qualifying for the state tournament. The Wildcats have ten games left on the season with four games against teams with subpar .500 records, another one with a .500 club in Woburn, and then five tough games with Burlington, Melrose, Wakefield, Reading and Lexington.

Last Wednesday, the Wildcats topped Belmont, 12-2 under the lights at Aprile Field. Wilmington scored eight runs in the bottom of the second to break the game wide open.

Jen Dovidio was the winning pitcher as she gave up just five hits and was helped out by a great defensive play by freshman shortstop Dana Goulet in the top of the seventh inning, when she fielded a ball deep in the hole, spun around and fired to first to get the out.

Also playing well defensively were outfielders Brittany Garrard, Shelby McHugh and Makayla Donahue.

In the loss to Winchester, the Wildcats led 1-0 before the Sachems countered with five runs to take a 5-1 lead after four innings. Dovidio then got the team back into the game with a two-run home run before Antonia Kieran had a two-run single to tie the game up at 5-5 in the top of the sixth.

But in the home half of the sixth, Winchester scored four runs behind two walks and an error to come away with the win.

Wilmington faced Burlington on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime, before coming home to face Melrose on Thursday and Wakefield on Monday both under the lights at Aprile Field beginning at 6 pm.

Girls still searching for first victory

By BRENDAN FOLEY

WILMINGTON- Midway through the season and the Wilmington High School Girls Lacrosse team is still on the hunt for their first win of the season. A tough game on Monday night saw the Wildcats fall to the visiting Arlington 20-10, dropping down to an 0-7 record.

"We started off very close," head coach Sarah Simpson said. "I think we're getting beat on our feet, speed wise."

A number of players chipped in offensively, led by Ashley Warren who found the net over and over again to notch six goals for the game. Siobhan Scanlon contributed another two goals, continuing an excellent season for her. Additional goals came courtesy of sisters Lianna and Tina Natola. Goalie Emily Loud came up with eight big saves to keep Wilmington in the game.

Simpson reserved special praise for the defense, who worked tirelessly to keep Arlington's sticks at bay. Freshman Rose Cuozzo has rapidly become an invaluable member of the team, thanks to her fearless efforts on defense.

"Rose has proven to be a tremendous (defender)," Simpson said.

Even with these strong performances and players, the team is still struggling to connect with the net, and make the transition from offense to defense, giving opposing team an advantage. While the team is much more competitive of late than in previous games, they are still unable to put the pieces together.

Last Wednesday's game against Belmont was another showcase for these struggles. The Wildcats had two goals apiece from Warren and Scanlon, and had additional goals from Tina Natola, Dana Rossetti, Moesha Beray, and Nicole McInerney scoring one apiece, and even had Loud pulling of 15 saves in the second half.

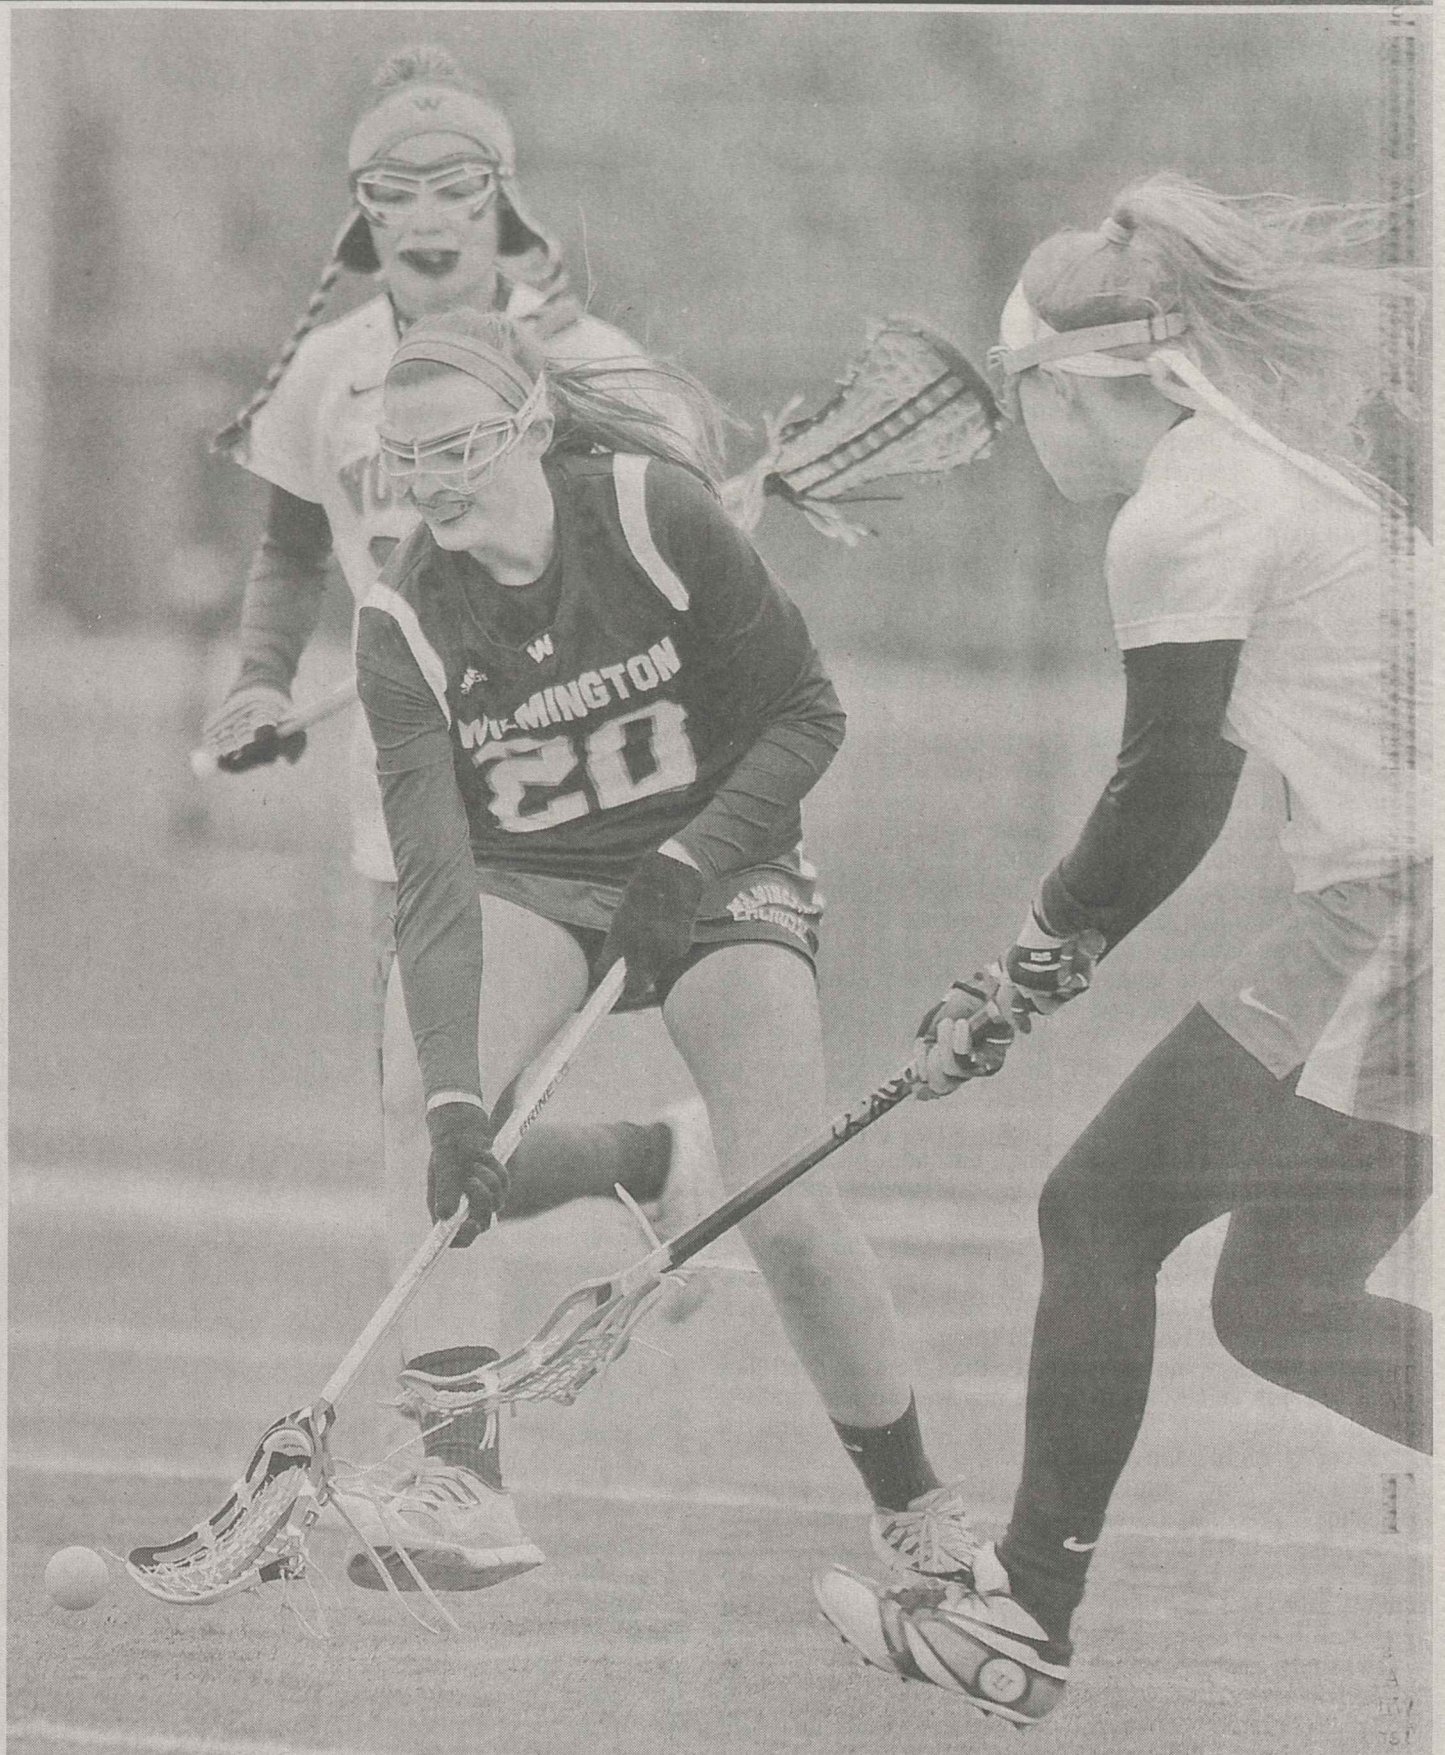

Even with all these great individual performances, the Wildcats could still not overcome Belmont and lost the game 15-8.

Simpson continues to maintain that much of the awkwardness of the first half the season was due to the shifting roster due to illness, injury, travel, and school commitments.

With the team now at full strength, she is seeing stronger, more cohesive play from the team which she believes will yield strong results in the near future.

"It was difficult to get everyone on the same page," Simpson said. "We've started to put more points on the board. As a team, going forward, there's a commitment to working together."

Simpson believes that

having that consistency is critical to having a team that works from front to back.

"We've seen how important it is to be consistent, and we've seen the great things we can accomplish together," Simpson said.

Wilmington's hunt for a victory will continue on Friday with a 4 pm game against Wakefield (7-5). On Monday, the team will face off with Reading (6-6), with that game scheduled for 4:30. Both games will be held at the Shawsheen School Field.

Softball team at 6-6

Up and Down Week in the Circle

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor
jamiepote@hotmail.com

TEWKSBURY - It was another up-and-down week for the Tewksbury Memorial High School Softball team.

The Redmen lost to Chelmsford but came back to beat North Andover and Billerica to even the team's record at 6-6 thus far. But with eight games remaining, the team has to win four, or win two-out-of-three games against Dracut, Lowell Catholic or North Reading to qualify for the state tournament.

This program has gone to the state tournament every year dating back to what's believed to be the 1997 season.

"We got a real tough road ahead of us," said coach Leo DiRocco. "We lost two extra inning games, we lost another 1-0 game and now we head into games with Methuen, Central Catholic, Chelmsford and then later with Concord-Carlisle, Everett and North Reading. There's certainly no easy game on our schedule the rest of the way.

"(Monday night) the kids earned the win (against Billerica). We have been preaching to them on learning how to win the 2-1, 3-2 games and (Monday night) they did it."

Tewksbury hosted a tough Billerica squad at home under the lights on Monday and were ahead 1-0 entering the bottom of the fifth. With two on, DiRocco went to his bench and called on pinch-hitter Nicole Petherbridge. "We have been watching her at practice and she continues to get stronger and stronger," said DiRocco. "She's always hustling, but she needs to get stronger and she's been getting there."

He called her number and all she did was stroke a two-run double into the right center gap and help the Redmen go up 3-0. Two batters later she scored on a suicide squeeze bunt by senior captain Erin Walsh making it 4-0.

The score remained that way until the top of the seventh when Billerica rallied. The Indians scored two runs and had the bases loaded with two outs. A sharp groundball went to third baseman Kirsten Dick, who recorded the final out and preserved a huge victory for the Redmen.

"It was huge for us, just huge," said DiRocco. "Billerica loaded the bases and things got hairy for us but I thought we played like the way we can play and we played like we could to win."

Kirsten Dick had a great all-around game. She went 3-for-3 at the plate with a run and an RBI and also played a strong game with the glove at the hot corner. "She has really played great defense for us," said DiRocco. "Billerica has some real good slap hitters and Kirsten was right there in their face taking those chances away."

Shortstop Nora Butler had a strong defensive game, while she also contributed with two hits and catcher Jess Silva made a great defensive play on a wild pitch throwing a runner out at home. Sophomore Adrianna Favreau got the win on the mound as she gave up just three hits and one walk, while striking out seven.

In the team's 9-2 win over North Andover, Erica Whynot was the winning pitcher as she went the first four innings. She was helped out offensively by Kirsten Dick, who finished with two hits including a three-run double, as well as Anna Sessa, who was 3-for-4 with a double and 2 RBI, and Cora Gagnon who had two hits.

Last Wednesday, Tewksbury was defeated by Chelmsford, 12-6.

The Redmen faced the undefeated Methuen Rangers on Wednesday night with results not known as of presstime, before traveling to Central Catholic on Thursday and then to Chelmsford on Monday afternoon.

Leighton finishes as all-time scorer at Regis

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Many of our Wilmington college athletes wrapped up their spring seasons and in some cases their careers, over the past couple of weeks, starting with some lacrosse stars.

PETER LEIGHTON

Regis College senior Peter Leighton closed out his brilliant career with the Pride with a pair of great games against Becker College, scoring two goals and adding two assists in the regular season finale, and scoring a goal with two assists in the 10-7 loss in the NECC last Wednesday.

Leighton finished the season with 23 goals and 30 assists for 53 points and finished his career with 105 goals and 85 assists for 190 points. His 190 points are the all-time record at Regis, as are his 85 assists, while he is second all-time in goals scored.

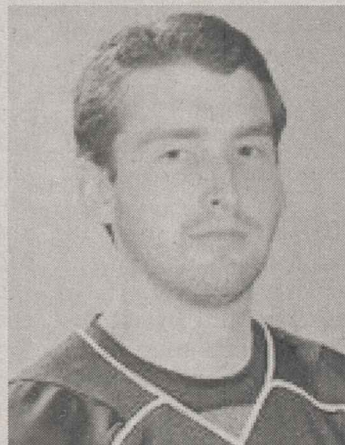

Rivier senior defender Andy Wells closed out an impressive career of his own recently.

The 2011 Wilmington High graduate played in 43 games during his career, causing 41 turnovers and picking up 62 ground balls while scoring two goals and assisting on two other scores. Andy will graduate with a degree in Business Marketing.

Wells was part of a senior class that saw their team reach the GNAC Playoffs in all four years that they have participated as members of the Rivier Lacrosse Program.

Bentley University senior midfielder Brendan Murphy wrapped up his college career on April 25 as the Falcons dropped their season finale to Pace Murphy finished his career having played 41 games for Bentley, scoring 12 goals with four assists for 16 points.

BRENDAN MURPHY

Rivier University sophomore attack Jane Farrell recently completed her second season with the Raiders. Farrell finished the season with five goals and five assists for ten points, while starting eleven games.

Several track stars were outstanding in recent weeks, starting with Bentley sophomore Erik Alatalo, who earned a fifth-place finish in the 10,000 meters at the NE-10 Conference Outdoor Track and Field Championships this past Saturday. He finished in a time of 32:17.83, shattering his previous best of 34:01.27 by more than 100 seconds.

Prior to that meet, Alatalo had earned a second place in the 3,000 meters at the Skyhawk Invitational at Stonehill College back on April 24. Alatalo finished in a personal best time of 9:09.44, bettering his previous best time by 3.43 seconds, helping the Falcons to a second place finish at the eight team meet.

Colby-Sawyer junior Courtney Figucia was part of the 4 x 400 relay team for the Chargers that set a new school record at the New England Championship at MIT last Saturday. Figucia, along with Emily Lopez, Heather Faasse, Paige O'Malley beat the previous record by nearly six seconds with a time of 4:08.71 to place 12th.

Previously, Figucia helped the Chargers to a second place finish at the inaugural North Atlantic Conference (NAC) Women's Championship on April 26, as she and her teammates took first place in the 4 x 400 meter relay in a time of 4:19.64.

COURTNEY FIGUCIA

Figucia also earned a third place finish in the 400 meter hurdles in a time of 1:12.12.

Regis College freshman Kate Cowden earned a fifth place finish in the discus event at the Pride Classic at Regis on April 26, setting a personal best with a throw

Shawsheen Tech Round-Up

Rams Baseball team alone in first place

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA – There is still a long way to go, but as they approach the halfway point of the season, the Shawsheen Tech Baseball team certainly has the look of a team ready to have a special season.

The defending CAC co-champions picked up another two wins this week, downing a pair of CAC opponent to improve to 7-2 overall and 6-1 in the CAC on the season.

In their most recent win, a 6-3 triumph over CAC rival Northeast on Monday, the Rams were led by an outstanding all around performance on both offense and defense to come away with a big win over a quality opponent in a battle for the top of the CAC Large standings.

"Our win at Northeast was a good win for us. Every win helps us get closer to our goal of qualifying for the tournament, but it's always important and nice to get a win against a large league opponent," Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy said.

"Northeast has been playing good ball this year, they were off to a 6-2 start, just like we were, so it was a good quality, team win for us yesterday."

Picking up the win on the mound for the Rams was junior lefty Alex Tate of Tewksbury, who allowed five hits over six innings of work, striking out six batters along the way. It was the second consecutive great start for Tate, who in his last game tossed a complete game two hitter while striking out ten batters in a 6-0 win over Essex Tech.

"Alex has been outstanding this year. He has really stepped up big for us. He is a smart kid who knows how to pitch," McCarthy said. "He can set hitters up, throws all three of his pitches for strikes, and uses his defense behind him effectively. He has a great mindset out there on the mound too, nothing rattles him."

"We know every time we give him the ball, he's going to give us his best effort and keep us in every game and put us in a position to win. He's having a great season thanks to his tremendous work ethic. He worked hard all off-season to get ready for this season and to be a major contributor to this year's team."

Andy Diranian had a big day at the plate for the Rams against Northeast, with two hits and two RBI, capping off a huge three game stretch where he was 7-for-9 with six RBI and seven runs scored.

Junior Brendan O'Flaherty of Wilmington also had a big week for the Rams, having three straight multiple hit games and scoring seven runs to help power the offense.

"Brendan and Andy at the top of our lineup have been terrific this season. They both ended the year as our one and two hitters last year as sophomores, and picked up right where they left off," McCarthy said. "They both can do it all. They can set the table and they can hit for power. They have done exactly what we need done from the top of our order."

"They also both play solid defense in our infield this year, which certainly seems to be our team strength. Brendan is at second base and Andy is at third base. They are both solid, consistent players who are getting it done day in and day out."

Prior to the win over Northeast, the Rams had a much easier time in a 15-1 blowout win over CC rival Greater Lawrence last Wednesday. The Rams were led by another great pitching performance, this time by junior Dan McCreven of Tewksbury, who allowed just one hit over six innings, while striking out eight batters.

"Dan really stepped up big for us in an important league game. He completely dominated from the very pitch of the game. He was pounding the strike zone, used all of his pitches effectively, and used his defense behind him," McCarthy said. "We have been getting great starting pitching efforts from Dan McCreven and Alex Tate, and in the later innings, Liam Dawson has been doing a dynamite job for us coming in to close games out for the last one or two innings. He's got nerves of steel and no situation seems to faze him."

Not much has seemed to faze the entire Rams team as of late, as they have been on a roll in their surge to the top of the CAC. McCarthy knows there is still work to be done, but he can't help but be happy with what he has seen so far.

"Right now I am very pleased with the team's performance for the first half of the season. One of the things I was excited about at the start of the season was our team's work ethic, and they continue to impress me in that regard," McCarthy said. "They show up every day, eager to work hard and get better. We have some great depth and a variety of positions, and each game it seems like a different person is stepping up big for us."

GIRLS LACROSSE

It was not a very busy week for the Shawsheen Tech Girls Lacrosse team, but the Lady Rams made it a productive week all the same, winning their lone game in a 9-5 triumph over Salem High School to get them back to .500 on the season with a 3-3 record.

It was a big win over a good program for the Lady Rams, and one the coach Maggie Joyce knew they needed to show the progress they have made in the early going of the season.

"It was a great win, an important win," Joyce said. "We went in with a game plan and were able to execute it."

And Joyce knows it was a victory that her team could not have achieved if they had not all been at their best and working as a team.

"The team played well together. They were patient with scoring opportunities and went for the goal when it was there," Joyce said. "We had limited turnovers, and won ten of the draw controls. Michelle Farrar has been aggressive on the draw, having won majority of them versus Salem."

Shawsheen once again was led by a balanced scoring attack with Malorie Kiehl scoring four, while Meg Ferguson and Kerrie Malloy had two each and Brianna Penney had one.

Along with their goal scores the Lady Rams also got several other outstanding efforts, starting with freshman Annie Riddle.

"She has never played before, but she is shaping up to be quite the lacrosse player. She works incredibly hard both in practice and in games," Joyce said. "Her hustle and athleticism is undeniable. I'm looking forward to seeing what more she can bring to the team the rest of the season."

Shawsheen also got a great effort from senior goalie Kerin O'Hearn, who has been outstanding all season long for the Lady Rams.

"Kerin played well in net," Joyce said. "We managed to keep the ball in our possession, I would say about two thirds of the game so that gave us an advantage also."

With her team back at .500 and with games at Essex Tech on Thursday and at Greater Lowell next Monday, Joyce is looking forward to seeing what her team can do to make a run to the state tournament.

"Looking at our upcoming games, I am confident that we will be able to pull in more wins," Joyce said. "The more game experience we get, the better we work as a whole. I'm excited for the second half of our season."

It has been an interesting couple of games for the Shawsheen Tech Softball team, which has seen the best and worst of what a young and talented, yet inexperienced team can do, all in the course of just two games.

On Monday, the Lady Rams fought back from an 8-0 third inning deficit to earn a 9-8 CAC victory over the Academy of Notre Dame, while on Tuesday, they fought back from an early 6-0 deficit against Greater Lawrence to take a comfortable lead, only to see the Reggie's score an incredible 11 runs in the sixth inning to earn a 19-17 win over Shawsheen.

With the 1-1 week, Shawsheen is now 5-4 on the season.

In the 9-8 win over NDA on Monday, the Lady Rams found themselves in an 8-0 third inning hole before scoring three runs in the third, one in the fifth and five in the sixth to get the win.

The five run rally in the bottom of the sixth inning was started by back to back doubles by the Lady Rams eight and nine hitters Jordan Walsh and Katie Stevens.

"Jordan ripped a shot to get things started and then Katie came right back and got a good hold of one too," Shawsheen coach Maureen Buckley said. "That was a good way to get the inning started."

Also having big days for the Lady Rams were Lauren Barletta and Mikayla Porcaro, each of whom went 2-for-4 with two runs scored each, while Barletta also drove in two runs.

"Both of them have been stepping up," Buckley said. "Mikayla is a good hitter and she has become a very patient hitter. I think she has 13 walks on the season. She is patient and when she gets a good pitch, she will hit it. And Lauren has had some big hits for us as well."

Meanwhile, senior catcher Jamie Ray of Tewksbury went 2-for-3 with four RBI on the day, including smashing a solo home run in the fifth inning. She also contributed on defense, picking a NDA runner off first base for the final out of the game.

Senior pitcher Marissa Cushing also was a big factor in the win for Shawsheen, coming on in relief in the third inning and keeping NDA scoreless the rest of the way while the Lady Rams fought back to take the lead and eventually get the win.

In the 19-17 loss to Greater Lawrence, the Lady Rams once again showed great fight in battling back from an early deficit, they were done in by too many mistakes, including several errors in the Reggie's 11-run sixth inning rally.

"I have to give it to our players, they don't quit. They work hard, and they keep fighting," Buckley said. "They are young kids and they are making young kid mistakes, but they will keep getting better. Right now they are just making life difficult for themselves with errors and sloppy play. It doesn't need to be so difficult."

Shawsheen had several outstanding offensive performances on the day, including Katie Welch, who went 3-for-5 with two runs scored, Jordan Walsh, who was 2-for-4 with two runs scored and Jamie Ray, who was 3-for-4 with two runs scored.

But as impressive as the Lady Rams were on offense, Buckley knows that it is unacceptable to score 17 runs in a game and still lose due to defensive breakdowns.

"Early in the season you can write it off that we were playing parking lot ball for most of the pre season and they were still adjusting to getting used to playing," Buckley said. "But we are reaching the point now where our young players need to start stepping up. We are at the point where we need people to start making plays for us."

Paquette, Barron and Price lead U10-2 Girls team to big win

Girls Under 10-2
Tewksbury 6, Wilmington 0

The Tewksbury GU10-2 team hosted the Wilmington GU10-3 team at Frasca field on Saturday for their second game of the season. Tewksbury's first offensive line of Ava Paquette, Carrina Barron and Alana Price got the offensive momentum going and set up the tempo for Tewksbury. The three players had some great passing plays and had excellent support in the backfield from defenders, Darya Mehrabani and Alex Fillmore to create Tewksbury's first scoring chances.

On the offensive line change, Leah Casey, Alyssa Adams and Mackenzie Hickey came out onto the field fired up to play. Only a minute into their shift, MacKenzie Hickey and Leah Casey swarmed the Wilmington defense on the right side of the field. Leah overpowered the Wilmington defender and came up with the ball only ten yards out. She took the quick shot and sent the ball past the Wilmington goalkeeper to score the first goal of the game.

Tewksbury remained relentless throughout first half play and did not allow Wilmington to put any offensive pressure on them. At the 19 minute mark, Tewksbury defender, Brooklynn DeGrechie took a corner kick which bounced off the Wilmington defense. However, Tewksbury's right wing, Leah Casey was there and did not hesitate to put a shot up. From a steep right angle, Leah blasted the shot to the far left goal corner to score her second goal of the game and put Tewksbury up 2-0.

With seconds remaining in the 1st half, Leah Casey put up another great shot just missing wide left and closed out the half. First half credit in goal goes to Megan Cunningham. The solid efforts of Tewksbury's offense and defense kept Megan without any ball touches during first half play.

Sparked by their first half play, the Tewksbury girls were ready to execute and finish in second half play. Right wing, Ava Paquette got things heated up early when she took the ball up the field unassisted and sent the hard shot from 15 yards out to score at 2:45 in the half.

Tewksbury worked the ball from all angles and kept the ball in their possession. Tewksbury changed this up a bit and moved Darya Mehrabani up to the offensive line. Darya worked her way through Wilmington's defense and found her opening. She capitalized on it by taking a shot that blasted through the hands of the Wilmington goalkeeper to give Tewksbury a 4-0 lead.

At the 21 minute mark, Brooklynn DeGrechie took another corner kick for Tewksbury. Brooklynn put up a beautiful kick about 15 yards out into the middle of the goal where center, Carrina Barron was waiting and took the one-timer shot. The ball sailed into the back of the net putting Tewksbury up 5-0.

Megan Cunningham and Alex Fillmore worked hard on both offense and defense in second half play. Each player had nice scoring opportunities of their own and they denied Wilmington's forwards any offensive momentum. Alana Price forced a Wilmington defensive turnover in the last minute and dribbled past the defenders. She took a quick shot to score and close out the game 6-0.

Tewksbury 7, Westford 0

The Tewksbury GU10-2 team was in Westford for this past Saturday's game. The first offensive line of Ava Paquette, Carrina Barron and Alana Price were focused and quickly got Tewksbury in scoring position.

With only 3:45 off the clock, Ava Paquette took control and dribbled the ball up the right wing. Ava capitalized on an opening in Westford's defense and blasted a shot past the Westford goalkeeper to put Tewksbury up 1-0.

Less than a minute later, Alana Price dribbled through Westford's defense and put up a beautiful crossing pass. Ava Paquette came crashing in from the wing and timed the cross perfectly to take the one-timer shot to score her second goal of the game.

Brooklynn DeGrechie, Darya Mehrabani and Alex Fillmore played an outstanding first half on defense and worked well to distribute the ball up into Tewksbury offensive territory. Westford's few scoring chances were quickly extinguished by the Tewksbury defensive unit. Tewksbury goaltender, Avery Della Piana kept things in control between the posts even though she had limited first half ball touches. As the half came to a close, Leah Casey sped up field with the ball and squeezed a pass through Westford's defense that met in stride with Tewksbury center, Alyssa Adams. Alyssa dribbled up a few yards then took a hard shot that sailed into the back of the net. Tewksbury wrapped up the first half 3-0.

Red hot, Ava Paquette set up Tewksbury's first scoring chance of the half. Paquette worked the ball up the right side of the field and dropped in a nice pass to Carrina Barron inside the box. Carrina took a touch to set up and rocked a shot into the far side of the goal to score Tewksbury's fourth goal only 2:30 into the half.

Tewksbury moved the ball well and kept tremendous offensive pressure on Westford. Brooklynn DeGrechie took a corner kick that dropped nicely inside the box only to be cleared by Westford's defense. However Tewksbury defender, Darya Mehrabani stepped up to intercept Westford's clear at the top of the center circle arc. Darya took a hard low ground shot which went untouched and into the net for Tewksbury's fifth goal. Alex Fillmore moved up to right wing and used her speed to beat Westford's defense. Alex put up a perfectly timed cross to the far post.

Leah Casey hustled in to meet to Alex's cross for a one-time left footed shot to score Tewksbury's sixth goal. At 15 minutes in the half, Alana Price dribbled down the left side and took a shot from ten yards out that notched another Tewksbury goal to go up 7-0 and closeout the game.

Wilmington 4, Tewksbury 3

Tewksbury Boys U12-2 suffered their first loss of the season to Wilmington. Wilmington got off to a fast start, making the score 1-0 five minutes in. Tewksbury battled back, as Andrew Della Piana and Jake McDonough had a couple chances but were thwarted by a tough defense. Alek Cranston, Jake Pelletier, Eric Impink, and Nick Polimeno were standing pat on defense, keeping the score 1-0. Tim Sweeney in goal, had to make a number of saves in the first half to keep the score close.

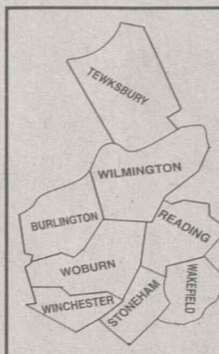

Tewksbury was able to break through, when Polimeno buried a free kick tying the score at 1-1. Was a back and forth game, as Travis Cohen, Justine Rooney, and Luke McFadyen battled for ball control in the midfield.

Wilmington scored late on a long punt, which saw a Wilmington player get on the loose ball, and go into half time with a 2-1 lead.

Tewksbury came out sluggish in the second half as Wilmington scored two quick goals, going up 4-1. Tewksbury woke up with about ten minutes remaining as Timmy Sweeney took a great throw from Polimeno, down the wing to Luke McFadyen, who centered to Sweeney, who put the ball near post making the score 4-2.

Tewksbury dominated play, as Della Piana, Rooney, Sam Barbagallo, and McFadyen had multiple scoring chances. Paidric Green was hauled down in the penalty area, and Rooney made no mistake burying the free kick making the score 4-3, with five minutes to play. Jake McDonough, playing goal, with Impink and Cranston playing defense, were not letting another goal get in, as anything close was saved by McDonough.

Tewksbury continued to fire shots on goal, McFadyen who played a great all-around game, along with his team mates showed great heart, but could not put the tying goal in.

Oberg and Peterson continue success in pro ball

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

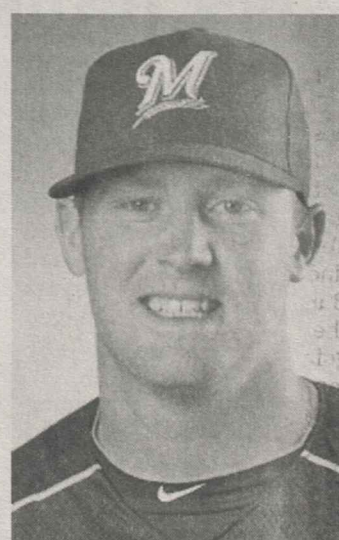

Every week during the baseball season, the Town Crier is going to give an update on the two local pitchers who are in professional ball, Tewksbury's Scott Oberg and Wilmington's Stephen Peterson.

About ten days after getting roughed up by the San Francisco Giants in his fifth MLB appearance, Oberg had an outstanding week for the Colorado Rockies. He appeared in three games, tossing a combined 3.2 scoreless innings giving up two hits, no walks and striking out five batters. He seems to be settling in nicely as a solid relief pitcher for the Rockies.

Oberg's best performance came on Wednesday, April 29th against the Arizona Diamondbacks. He struck out the side in order including pitcher Josh Collmenter, then Ender Inciarte and Chris Owings. Then he went on to retire Paul Goldschmidt on a fly out and Mark Trumbo on a ground out before coming out of the game. Goldschmidt is one of the top players in all of baseball.

Two days later, Oberg was back in action facing the San Diego Padres. He came on to pitch a scoreless inning, giving up one hit and striking out one. He retired Matt Kemp on a ground ball to third, before giving up an infield single to Justin Upton - who a week earlier he struck out in a crucial situation of a 2-1 ballgame - before getting Derek Norris to hit a comebacker back to Oberg, who threw him out at first, and then ended the inning by striking out Yonder Alonso.

The very next night, Saturday, he tossed another scoreless inning against the Padres. This time he got Kemp to ground out and struck out Upton, before giving up a single to Yangervis Solarte. Oberg then hit Jedd Gyorko to put two runners on but escaped trouble when he got former Red Sox third baseman Will Middlebrooks to ground out to third.

Now in eight MLB appearances, Oberg has a 1-0 record with one hold, and in 7 innings, he's given up 11 hits, 7 runs, 5 earned, while walking one and striking out eight. All seven runs he's given up have come in two appearances - the other six appearances were scoreless.

As for Peterson, he is pitching with the Brevard County Manatees, the Class A-Advanced team out of the Milwaukee Brewers system. In 7 appearances out of the bullpen, the lefthander is 2-1 with a 2.53 ERA. In 10.2 innings, he's given up 4 runs, 2 earned on 2 home runs while walking seven and striking out six.

On April 27th, he tossed 2.1 scoreless innings giving up one hit and two walks in a 4-2 win over Lakeland, and then on May 3rd, he suffered the loss when he went 2 innings giving up two walks and an unearned run.

Wilmington BU15 Lacrosse team wins thrilling overtime game

The Wilmington Blue U15 Lacrosse team traveled to Peabody on Sunday for a matchup against a solid Peabody squad. Even though the Wildcats were missing three players and had only 15 active players for the game, they managed a thrilling 5-4 overtime victory.

The Wildcats were coming off a tough 10-9 loss last week in Danvers and this win gives the team a 2-1 record on the season. Ben Wright led the way with three goals on the day while Zack Kincaid tallied two goals, including the game winner in overtime.

The defense was tremendous for the Wildcats led by goaltender Aaron Soto and defensemen Josh Smith, Kyle Kenyon, Frankie Irizarry and Cam Kenyon.

With two midfielders out for the game, the Wildcats were stretched thin at the position with only five active midfielders;

Andrew Sullivan, Adam Bishop, Jake Fox, Danny McGaffigan and Kincaid. After giving up a goal early in the game, the Wildcat defense buckled down.

It wasn't until late in the first quarter that Wright took a pass from Sullivan (four assists on the day) and buried a shot in the back of the net. The Attacks, led by Wright, Tommy King, Atley Miller, Nick Bruce and Prathik Ramesh were solid on the day helping to control the flow of the offense and keep the game from becoming a track meet.

The Wildcats never led during regulation, always tying the score just to go down by a goal. Late in the second half, the Wildcats were a man down and managed to stave off the penalty to take the game into overtime.

The overtime period was a three minute, sudden death style overtime. Shortly after Sullivan won the face-off to start the extra period, Kincaid took the pass from Sullivan and scored the game winning goal.

The Wilmington U15 Blue team will be home at Woburn Street next Sunday taking on Charlestown.

U 15 Boys

This past Saturday, the U15 Boys Select team took on Beverly/Cape Ann at home and came away with a 10-2 victory. Once again, the Wildcats dominated their competition just as they had in their previous two wins over Haverhill (15-2) and Watertown (11-1). The team has now outscored their opponents 36-5 on the season and sit atop the D2 standings.

Leading the way on Saturday were midfielders Andrew Sullivan, Danny Woods and Joey Theriault, who scored two goals each. Midfielder Jake Fox and attackmen Zach Kincaid, Patrick MODOONO and Jake Timmons rounded out the scoring with one tally each.

The stout defense of Josh Smith, Tyler Wood and brothers Kyle and Cam Kenyon combined with goalie Jimmy Theriault, kept Beverly's offense at bay for a majority of the game.

All of the Wildcat midfielders were relentless on defense and scooping ground balls, and their physical play was too much for the D1 Beverly/Cape Ann team.

U15 Girls

Scoring goals for Wilmington in their game against Woburn include Katelyn LeBlanc, Molly Foley, Sam Burke, Julia Hill and Megan Santry. Goalies Raegan Sweeney and Megan Santry played well and defender Gianna Petrucci played very well.

BU9 White

The season opener for the U9 White Wildcats began with a lot of excitement, finding the team and its coaching staff very happy with the outcome. Squaring off with Billerica, an excellent organization, left the Wildcats unsure of what their expectations were.

The game began slowly, with a lot of nerves, leading to dropped passes and miscommunication amongst the teammates.

After the first quarter and finding them down 2-0, they exhibited true character and fought back as a team. Jack Martins tended the net through the first half, keeping a tough Billerica team within reach by making several key saves.

Matt Newhouse and Shane O'Neill communicated with their goalie, taking directions to move the ball up the sidelines, feeding their midfielders. Keeping the game at a 2-0 deficit was instrumental, as the offense needed some time to get into the rhythm.

The second half found the Wildcats down as well, 3-2, finding their team down due to a questionable call made by the official. Much like the first half, the Wildcats banded together and made an offensive charge, with great runs, passes, and shots from the perimeter. Jake Banda, Owen Fitzpatrick, and Camden Gray dished throughout the offensive zone, feeding Mick Keogan to make a stellar goal, tying the game 3-3 mid way through the final quarter.

Billerica responded with a late charge, emptying the bench for the most seasoned players. Staunch defense for the Wildcats continued to turn them aside. Chase Heffernan and Quinn Stockman paired up on D, clearing the goal mouth and relying on the second half goalie, Ryan Lavorato, making a great save, amid traffic.

The game ended with Lavorato's amazing save, knotting the opening game of the season as 3-3 tie.

Lynnfield 4, Wilmington 0

The second game of the season did not turn out to be as favorable, opposed by a focused Lynnfield team, led by a passionate coaching staff. Due to the physical play, and aggressive jostling for position, there were several Wildcats called for penalties. With the penalties, unexpected substitutions, and a seasoned Lynnfield team, the Wildcats found themselves down in the first half.

The goalie, Braedon Dymont stood his ground, waiting for the help that could not seem to organize in time. Dymont's attitude rallied the team on the bench, asking the coaching staff for the opportunity to join the fray on Wilmington's behalf.

The second half turned with revived enthusiasm, exhibited by great runs up the sideline and into the offensive zone. Shane O'Neill and Stephen Constantine tried to put his team on their backs with a late rally, darting among several defenders and trying to feed the attackmen.

The Wildcats found themselves matched up against an outstanding Lynnfield goalie, catching and turning back great shots by Zack Timmons, Jon Mehr, and Nathan Caples.

The offensive push left the defense outnumbered with quick turns by Lynnfield. Kudos to Cameron Splaine for his work in the net the second half. Splaine contributed offensive shots on net in the first half, and saving several late in the game. Aside from the goalies vs Lynnfield, the defense was anchored by Matthew Breen. He manned the middle of the defensive zone, intercepting several Lynnfield passes, limiting multiple goal celebrations on their Woburn Street turf.

U9 Girls

The U9 Girls team had a great game on Sunday against Burlington. Isabella Iascone played strong in goal for the first half of the game making some great saves. Addeline Holland took over the goal during the second half, also making some powerful saves.

Keira Warford started the game as center and did an excellent job winning the draw, Emma Alworth also played center, helping the team out tremendously, scoring two goals. Kaleigh Brennan, Meredith Ebert and Shae Gould did great on defense marking their opponents. Jillian Collins and Kiley Bloom played midfield and showed their incredible endurance and offensive talent with both having a pair of goals.

Also playing midfield, Brynne Ebert did a great job fighting for the ball and gaining possession. On attack, Sidney Crane played a strong game both offensively and defensively. Callie McCauley also had a goal and did a great job controlling the pace of the game playing midfield and showing her speed.

The girls all worked together as one and earned their second win with a final score of 7-4.

Shawsheen Tech Football camp, July 20-23

The Shawsheen Tech football coaching staff will be holding their 2015 Youth Football Skills Clinic on July 20-23 from 4:30-7:30 pm at the Shawsheen Tech Football Complex at 100 Cook Street in Billerica.

The clinic will be headed by Shawsheen head football coach and Athletic Director Al Costabile, who brings 23 years of head coaching experience to the camp, including leading the Rams to the 2010 MIAA Division 4 Super Bowl championship.

Costabile will be joined by a Rams coaching staff that combines for over 100 years of coaching experience including Mark Donovan, Ray Morneau, Doug Pratt, Jason Tildsley, Joe Gore, and Joel Mignault.

Each participant needs his or her own shoes or sneakers and mouthpiece. This is a non-tackle clinic. The equipment needed is strictly for safety measures. The clinic meets every evening regardless of weather. Indoor facilities will be available if needed.

The cost for the clinic is $100.00 per participant which is non-refundable. Additional family members can attend for $75.

11th Annual Reid's Ride 28-mile bike-a-thon

By PAUL FEELY

Organizers are preparing once again to ride this July in memory of a Lynnfield young adult who lost his battle with cancer, raising funds to defeat the disease that took him from family, friends and loved ones much too soon.

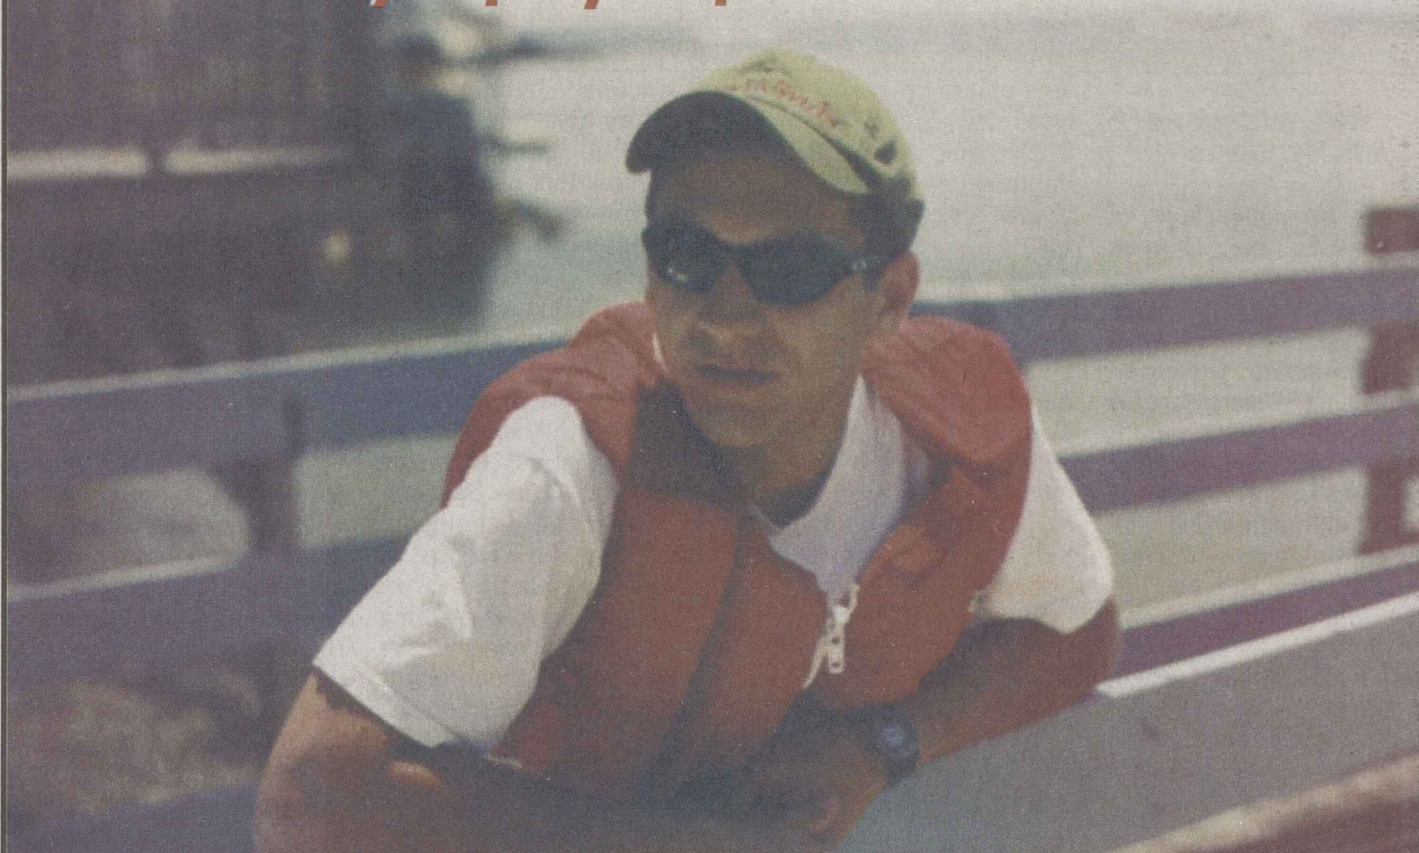

The Reid Sacco AYA Cancer Alliance will launch its second decade of battling Adolescent & Young Adult Cancers with the 11th Annual Reid's Ride 28-Mile Bike-a-thon on Sunday, July 19th. On-line registration is already underway at the Reid's Ride registration and information site www.ReidsRide.org.

"After the long hard winter we've had around here, I think we're all eager to imagine ourselves once again on our bikes, pedaling up to Gloucester on a beautiful summer Sunday morning in July, for another fun, rewarding and influential Reid's Ride," said Lorraine Sacco, Director of Reid's Ride.

Last year, Reid's Ride attracted more than 450 cyclists, who together raised more than $165,000 to support clinical programs directed at improving the care and outlook for adolescent and young-adult cancer patients and survivors. The event boasts an inclusive, friendly and community atmosphere, taking cyclists of all ages and abilities along a beautiful and safe 28-mile route from Lynnfield to Cape Ann Gloucester, where the ride finishes with an amazing celebration on the oceanfront grounds at Stage

In memory of Lynnfield cancer victim

REID R. SACCO ADOLESCENT AND YOUNG ADULT CANCER ALLIANCE - Reid Sacco (above) According to the groups website roughly 70,000 individuals between the ages of 18 and 39 are diagnosed each year with cancer - a number almost three times higher than those under the age of 15. The AYA Cancer Alliance is committed to advocacy and awareness in its mission of supporting research directed at finding better treatments and someday a cure for the cancers that strike adolescents and young adults.

Fort Park.

Awareness, education and funding made possible by Reid's Rides over the last ten years has altered the course for AYA cancer, improving the care and outlook for AYA cancer patients and survivors. The Reid Sacco AYA Cancer Clinic at Tufts Medical Center in Boston, established in 2013, is the first clinic and program of its kind in New England to provide direct care and treatment for Adolescent and Young Adult Cancer Patients! This program is the hub for AYA cancer care today as it works towards closing the tremendous gap in directed care and treatment for AYA cancer patients.

This year's Reid's Ride is Sunday morning, July 19, 2015. Cyclists begin gathering for check-in about 6:45 AM at the parking lot at Lynnfield High School and begin departing between 7:15 and 7:30 AM, along a scenic route of town and country and seaside roads to Gloucester's Stage Fort Park for food, music, fun and festivities. The 28 mile open-road route is covered by technical and emergency chase teams, water stations, and a rest stop. Riders who register early and on-line receive a discount on the registration fee.

Reid's Ride is the primary fund-raiser for the ECCF/Reid Sacco AYA Cancer Fund, which provides financial support to clinical and scientific programs targeted at finding improved treatments - and someday a cure - for the cancers that strike adolescents and young adults. Compared to cancer patients in other age groups, this age group is grossly underserved in terms of cancer treatment options, access to clinical trials, and improved survival rates. This Fund helped launch the AYA Cancer Program at Connecticut Children's Medical Center, and established the Reid R. Sacco AYA Program for Cancer & Blood Diseases at Tufts Medical Center, with a first-in-New England AYA Clinic specifically targeted to AYA patients and their specialized needs.

In 2005 friends launched the Reid R Sacco Memorial Foundation as an organization of volunteers that would raise awareness and funds to fight the cancers striking adolescents and young adults.

In 2013 organizers changed the name of this organization to the Reid R. Sacco AYA Cancer Alliance to better reflect the mission and focus of this organization.

The origin of the Alliance begins with Reid R Sacco, who did a lot with his 20 years on earth.

He was a scholar, a musician, and an athlete. He was in the National Honor Society. He played violin for Marblehead's Symphony by the Sea Youth Orchestra and tenor saxophone at Lynnfield High School. He co-founded the Lynnfield High School swim team and competed nationally, despite having the degenerative hip disease Legg-Perthes.

Shortly after being accepted to Columbia University and just a few weeks before graduating high school, he was diagnosed with a cancer seen predominately in adolescents and young adults. Two years later, Reid had lost his courageous and inspiring battle with that cancer. But during that period, he dreamed not only of finally attending Columbia but also of starting a movement to find better treatments - and someday a cure - for the cancers striking his age group.

The Alliance objectives are Reid to S-4

"The Avengers: Age of Ultron"

THE AVENGERS ARE UNITED AS A UNIT once again. When Iron Man (Robert Downey Jr.) uses an expletive, Captain America (Chris Evans) responds calmly with one simple word: "Language." Ultron (James Spader) is a more powerful villain than Loki.

"THE AVENGERS: AGE OF ULTRON"

The Avengers: Age of Ultron is a fun, escapist superhero film. There are some elements that are overdone, like the larger-than-life action sequences, but when the story focuses on the relationships between the characters, it shines and really shows the type of clever interplay that writer/director Joss Whedon is known for.

A hint of this is introduced during an early action sequence, which shows the Avengers united as a unit once again. When Iron Man (Robert Downey Jr.) uses an expletive, Captain America (Chris Evans) responds calmly with one simple word: "Language." Despite the fact that Cap is living in our modern world, his allegiance to the innocence of the past still shines through. The Avengers tease him about his old-fashioned morals throughout the story but that teasing only shows how fond this team are of him and one another.

During the same early scene, two of the story's main villains are introduced. When one of the characters fighting the Avengers gives the order to "Send out the twins," we know that this duo is trouble. The twin, otherwise known as Pietro Maximoff/Quicksilver (Aaron Taylor-Johnson) and Wanda Maximoff/Scarlet Witch (Elizabeth Olsen) are tough indeed and they soon find an even tougher ally in Ultron (voiced by James Spader), an artificially-intelligent robot Tony Stark created to protect the planet.

In the wake of everything he and the Avengers have seen and encountered, Stark attempts to create an artificially intelligent "suit of armor around the world." His goal is to keep humanity safe from threats we can't even imagine yet.

Stark's efforts don't end well, their result being Ultron, a sinister robot (voiced by creepy perfection by James Spader). This new villain decides that Earth's Mightiest Heroes are the greatest threat to peace on said Earth, and he also happens to be the greatest enemy the superhero team has ever faced. Allied with Pietro (whose speed makes him nearly impossible to catch) and Wanda (who uses mind manipulation to control her opponents), the trio proves to be a worthy adversary for our heroes.

The plot is secondary to the characters. Here, the screenplay focuses more on some of the supporting characters who really have a chance to shine. For instance, we get a more complete picture of the suburban Hawkeye (Jeremy Renner), a character that shows that being a superhero doesn't have to consume a person's full life. Also, we get a closer look at characters like Natasha (Scarlett Johansson) and Bruce Banner (Mark Ruffalo), two characters that are allowed a chance to really grow as they develop a romance with one another (scenes showing the two of them together show that these characters really deserve their own new movies). The film may give short shrift to Thor (Chris Hemsworth) but in a film with so many supporting players, it seems like some sacrifices had to be made.

For what it's worth, Ultron is a more powerful villain than Loki was in the original and I was expecting that he would be a more compelling one onscreen. His plot to destroy the world though offers nothing new, and he's not as manipulative as Thor's brother was.

The Avengers: Age of Ultron offers a look at the team as they work together and compete against one another (a competition amongst them to lift Thor's hammer offers a few chuckles during one of the film's more dialogue-driven moments. It's hard not to be disappointed that the original was better, but it's also hard not to have fun watching the characters play off against one another.

Program on "Woburn's Road to Revolution"

The Woburn Historical Commission, in partnership with Freedom's Way, will present "Woburn's Road to Revolution" on Saturday, May 16th, from 12 pm to 3 pm, at the Battle Road Conservation Area in Woburn.

The program will include guided walking tours along a portion of Old Lexington Road, which still remains preserved much as it was in the 18th century. The Woburn Militia traveled this road on their way to Lexington, answering the alarm on April 19th, 1775.

Reenactors in period dress will be portraying historical characters at Tarky Park, 256 Russell Street where the tours are scheduled to begin at 12 noon, 12:15, 12:30, 1:30, 1:45, and 2:00 pm. The tours are free and open to the public with free, off street parking.

For further information, see Woburn's Road to Revolution on Facebook.com/battleroadwoburn, or call 781-933-4976, or email battleroadwoburn@milk.toast.net.

Hidden Treasures Weekend on May 16 and 17, 2015, will feature dozens of free, fun, and creative activities for intergenerational audiences that explore the history, culture, and nature of the 45 communities in the Freedom's Way National Heritage Area, home to over 750,000 people.

Electronic device recycling collection day on May 23

Wondering what to do with that old television, computer monitor or appliance that is broken, unwanted or unused and just taking up space? Paul Medeiros and the Medeiros Crew Recycling Team has found and is working with a Massachusetts company that will collect these items at its drop off site which is now Spence Farm.

This is an excellent opportunity to recycle these items at a minimal cost compared to the high cost associated with curbside appliance recycling programs and will also be a fundraiser for local organizations that will sponsor these events.

Another good thing and possibly the best part of this program is that it is open to residents from any and all communities, not just Woburn, as well as any and all business entities. With your help these collections have raised over $140,000 dollars for local Woburn organizations with a portion going to the Woburn High School Scholarship Fund!

So clean out those basements, attics, garages and warehouses and bring your items down!

The next collection will be held on Saturday, May 23rd from 9 AM to 1 PM at Woburn's Spence Farm located at 41 Wyman Street, in Woburn. This one will benefit Boy Scout Troop 502 with all their planned programs. A portion of the proceeds will be going towards a scholarship fund set up for Woburn Memorial High School graduating seniors who will continue their education in a field of environmental education.

If you would like further information or have any questions about this recycling program designed to save you money and benefit local organizations, please call Paul or Lori Medeiros at (781) 938-0297 or via e-mail at: paulderman@verizon.net or check out the website at: www.tinyurl.com/spencefarm

FIELDS DAYS, FARM TEAM, LEASE LAWS

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

LIGHTS SUBJECT (READING)

"Reading Town Meeting ... voted to approve an article in the Special Town Meeting sponsored by the Selectmen to improve and expand athletic field lighting at the Birch Meadow complex," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Debate on this article occupied Town Meeting members for over an hour in the Special Town Meeting within the regular meeting before passage of the $1 million project on a vote of 115-43.

"Most of the opposition to the proposal centered on the process and the rush to town meeting vote without hearings or public meetings to obtain abutter input on the light expansion from three fields to five with new lights for one of the existing lit fields. The opposition felt that community meetings should have been held first then the vote on the lights with hours and use regulations in place rather than the Selectmen's plan to fund the project then hold the neighborhood meetings.

"The lighting expansion would allow more use of the fields which by all accounts are currently insufficient for the needs of Reading youth sports and school use.

"Town Manager Robert LeLacheur made the case for the fields with Recreation Director John Feudo and members of the Board of Selectmen.

"Town Meeting members also approved with little dissent the purchase of modular classrooms (already approved) changing the funding from free cash to borrowing, and the reconstruction of the retaining wall at the high school at a cost of $496,000. They also approved an offer of $27,166 to settle legal action concerning the town's use of the Sutton Brook Disposal Area, now a contaminated land fill Superfund site in Tewksbury."

LONG SUBJECT (WILMINGTON)

"Twenty residents dotted the large auditorium at the Wilmington Middle School, and while sparsely attended, interested residents were presented with a comprehensive overview of the 9 Cross Street Project otherwise known as Yentile Farm," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"Selectman and Chair of the Yentile Farm Development Committee Judith O'Connell acknowledged the design team, representatives, committees, the Town Manager and the Assistant Town Manager.

"Town Manager Hull began with the history of the process which started in May of 2012...

"On April 15, 2015, Green International's Senior Associate Danielle Spicer presented the Plan, outlining design parameters, existing conditions and site constraints and their proposed design which includes an athletic turf field and concession/pavilion area, playground, storm water and permit compliance and an overall park design refinement...

"Now, a new concept plan is on the table replete with photographs of a rain garden design with shrubs and perennials, a playground, concession stand and pavilion, an athletic field basketball and street hockey courts...

"Not everyone was happy with the plan...."

CENTRAL SUBJECT (STONEHAM)

"The Stoneham School Committee's warrant article for next month's Town Meeting regarding a 10-year lease of the old Central School is music to many ears," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"Not only will a long term lease ensure ongoing rental income to the school system's operating budget and give a more permanent sense of home to the Seem Collaborative which has leased the building for a number of years through shorter, 2-year leases, it also helps preserve a part of Stoneham history.

"Stoneham Historical Commission Co-Chair Marcia Wengen told the School Committee last week that being part of the discussion regarding renovating the old William Street building to make it more suitable for Seem's students while likewise preserving the historical character of the building's exterior honors the mission of the Commission which is to protect, preserve and develop historical and archeological assets of the town.

"There is no protection for this building," Wengen said, explaining that although it is old, the Central School building is not listed on any national register and therefore protected legally regarding preserving its historical character. "Occupancy is a great preservation tool because empty buildings come to no good end...."

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper or look on line for up-to-date information about your city or town.

We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About the Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, 531 Main St, Reading, MA01867 or to schooltowns@comcast.net.

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA: What are the most points scored in an NBA playoff game by both teams combined?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Senior right fielder Tom Nagy (Fairfield, Conn./Ludlowe HS) was 4-for-5 with two doubles, his eighth home run of the season and three RBI as Bentley University upended Stonehill College, the third-ranked team in the NCAA Division II East Region, 6-4, in Northeast-10 Conference Northeast Division baseball at Lou Gorman Field.

The Nagy-powered 12-hit attack supported a strong mound effort by sophomore lefty Evan Walsh (Arlington/Arlington Catholic HS), who pitched into the ninth in his second career start and earned his third win of the season.

Bentley turned the game around in the fourth inning, scoring four times to claim a 5-3 lead and drive Stonehill starter Patrick Nicholson, a junior lefty who came in with a 5-0 record, from the game.

Following a lead-off single by senior catcher Eric Schneider (Camarillo, Calif.) in the bottom of the ninth, Walsh was lifted in favor of classmate Jack Burke (Reading/St. John's Prep), who notched his first career save. A two-out single by sophomore right fielder Ben Monte (New Haven, Conn.) brought in Stonehill's fourth run but he was thrown out attempting to steal by Bentley junior catcher Bryan Rocha (Rehoboth/Dighton-Rehoboth HS) for the game's final out.

•Bentley University freshman Holt Sihvonen

(Lebanon, Conn./Lyman Memorial HS) finished first in the javelin for the second straight meet while competing in the Sean Collier Invitational at MIT's Henry Steinbrenner Stadium.

Sihvonen posted a throw of 184'0.25" to outdistance MIT's Harry Rein by more than seven feet. He led a strong Falcon showing in the event with senior Chris Ricci (Coventry, R.I./Bishop Hendricken HS) fifth (167'2.25"), junior Joe Simonini (Revere/Revere HS) eighth (158'4.25") and junior Wes Dupray (Rowley/St. John's Prep) ninth (157'1.25"). Both Ricci and Dupray joined their two teammates on the Northeast-10 Conference performance list in the event with Ricci now fifth and Dupray seventh.

Bentley's highest finishing runner was sophomore Tim Bolick (Hopkinton/Hopkinton HS), who was second of 59 in the 800 meters. His time of 1:57.11 was a new personal best by 0.66 seconds. Also in the 800, junior Anthony Lacey (Ogdensburg, N.J./Pope John XXIII) was fifth with his 1:58.77 a PR by nearly two seconds.

Freshman Beau Kraft (Bayport, N.Y./Bayport-Blue Point HS) finished fourth of 39 in the discus (132'45") and was also sixth of 38 in the shot put (44'4.75"). That latter throw was a PR and good for both eighth on the NE-10 performance list and the Falcons' all-time list.

Sophomore Eric Alatalo (Wilmington/Wilmington HS) took fifth, in a field of 24, in the 5,000 meters with his 15:36.67 at PR by nearly 25 seconds and good for ninth in the NE-10 so far this spring. Also achieving PR's in the 5,000 by a substantial margin were junior David Cooper (Woburn/Woburn HS) (15:36.67) and freshman Seamus Higgins (Randolph, N.J./Randolph HS) (16:00.25). Cooper was the seventh man across the line and Higgins was 11th.

•Need some help with the trivia question? The two teams involved were the Portland Trail Blazers and the Phoenix Suns.

•The Colby-Sawyer baseball team split a North Atlantic Conference (NAC) twin bill with New England College recently. The Pilgrims took the first game 8-1, while Colby-Sawyer won the second 4-2.

Colby-Sawyer goes to 1-25 overall and 1-15 in the NAC. The Pilgrims are now 8-19 overall and 5-13 in conference play.

GAME 1 - NEW ENGLAND COLLEGE 8, COLBY-SAWYER 1

New England College put six runs on the board in its first at-bat on five hits and an error. Five different players recorded an RBI in the frame.

Colby-Sawyer got a run back in the fourth on a sacrifice fly from senior Rob Wallace (Tewksbury, Mass.) that scored freshman Connor Henry (East Boston, Mass.).

The visitors added two more in the top of the seventh on a two-run single by senior Steve DeLuca (Coxsackie, N.Y.) to secure the 8-1 win. DeLuca finished the game with a pair of hits and a team best three RBI.

•The Regis College men's lacrosse team was outscored 7-2 in the second half as the Pride dropped a New England Collegiate Conference match against Mitchell College 13-9. With the loss the Pride fell to 8-4, 1-1 NECC and with the victory the Mariners improve to 5-7, 3-0 NECC.

Regis held the advantage in shots 47-25, groundballs 37-25 and turnovers 21-22 against the visitors.

The Pride opened up the scoring three minutes into the contest after sophomore attack Alex Ferran (Miami, Fla.) scooped up a groundball off a save, deked Mariner goalie J.D. LeMay (Lagrangeville, N.Y.) and scored.

Junior attack Nicky Rodrigo (Miami, Fla.) gave Regis their largest lead of the game when Peter Leighton (Wilmington, Mass.) made a pass from behind the net to a waiting Rodrigo, who then ripped a shot top shelf and put the Pride in front 5-3.

The Crimson and Gold added two consecutive goals to head into the half with the lead. Nicky Rodrigo scored his second goal of the contest when the Pride were up a man and Peter Leighton received a quick pass from the goal line and scorched a shot top shelf to put Regis up 7-6 at the intermission.

Regis would cut the lead to one goal at two moments during the final stanza after goals from junior midfielder Jack O'Brien (Milton, Mass.) and Peter Leighton, but it wasn't enough as the Mariners would respond to each Pride goal with one of their own and take the match 13-9.

Nicky Rodrigo scored two goals for the Pride while teammate Peter Leighton added two goals and an assist. Alex Ferran scored a goal and dished out two assists. Jack O'Brien was 10-of-16 during face-offs while Brandon Mehler (Bay Shore, N.Y.) was 7-of-8 and scooped up a team-high seven groundballs.

•Answer to THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: On May 11, 1992 in a double overtime game, Portland defeated Phoenix 153 to 151. Combined the two teams scored 304 points which stands to this day as the most points scored in an NBA playoff game by both teams combined.

Middlesex Fells topic at Historical Society in Stoneham on May 14th

New book discussed

Well known author, historian, and lecturer, Anthony Sammarco (aka "Mr. Ho Jo") was the special guest speaker recently at the Stoneham Historical Society. He entertained and enlightened the audience on the history and folklore of the Boston Elevated Railway that broke ground in 1899 for a new transit service that opened in 1901 and continued to provide unparalleled transportation above and below ground until 1987. Mr. Sammarco is pictured here with local resident, Grace Rosselli, displaying his current book entitled "When Boston Rode The El".

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 14th. As a joint effort with the Historical Commission to commemorate Preservation Month, it will feature a program entitled "Middlesex Fells: A Century of Recreation".

Alison Simcox and Douglas Heath are experts on this topic of the fabulous treasure known fondly as The Fells. Today, "it is one of the largest forest existing within a metropolitan area and remains a retreat for people seeking greenery, exercise and solitude". They have authored a book on this topic and many others that will be available for sale. The general public is always welcomed to attend.

The Stoneham Historical Society Meeting Hall and Museum is located at 36

William Street (across from the historic brick school). Doors open at 6:45 pm to enjoy the exhibits. The brief business meeting takes place @ 7:15 pm and includes Election of Officers. The program will follow.

Persons interested in membership, volunteering, upcoming programs or with questions may visit www.stonehamhistory.webs.com, email stonehamhistoricalsociety@yahoo.com or phone 781-832-2196.

Wilmington Democrats to elect delegates to State Convention on Monday, June 1st at 7pm

Democrats in Wilmington will be holding a caucus on Monday, June 1 at 7pm at the Wilmington Fourth of July Building (142 Middlesex Avenue) to elect 11 delegates and 4 alternates to the 2015 Massachusetts Democratic Convention, where Democrats from across the state will gather to meet fellow activists and hear from elected officials. The convention will be held on Saturday, September 19, 2015 at the MassMutual Center in Springfield.

"This convention will be unique as we build on experiences from many competitive elections these past few years and look to strengthen the party for the future," said Massachusetts Democratic Party Chairman, Senator Tom McGee. "Caucuses are an important step in growing our party engagement at the local level."

The caucus is open to all registered Democrats in Wilmington, and the Democratic Committee welcomes participants. Delegates will be divided equally between men and women, and all ballots will be written and secret. Youth, minorities, and people with disabilities who are not elected as delegates or alternates may apply to be "add-on" delegates. The Fourth of July Building is handicapped accessible. Details on the rules can be found at www.massdems.org.

The committee normally meets on the first Monday of the month at 7pm at Wilmington Community Television (10 Waltham Street). For more information on the caucus or the committee, please contact Gary DePalma at 978-658-2330 or gbd87@comcast.net, or check out their website at www.wilmingtondems.org.

Lymphoma Research Foundation to host annual Lymphoma Walk in Massachusetts

BOSTON, MA - In Massachusetts last year alone, nearly 1,850 people were diagnosed with lymphoma, the most common type of blood cancer. To improve the lives of all those affected by lymphoma, the Lymphoma Research Foundation (LRF) - the nation's largest non-profit organization devoted exclusively to funding innovative lymphoma research and serving those touched by this disease - will host its annual Massachusetts Lymphoma Walk on Saturday, May 16 at Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield, MA. The event will feature live music, activities for all ages, free refreshments such as water, Starbucks coffee, bagels, fruit, and other items. Event check-in begins at 8:30 a.m. and the Walk kicks off at 9:30 a.m.

The Lymphoma Walk is a non-competitive 5K walk where survivors, families, friends, community members, and corporate teams walk in honor and in memory of those whose lives have been touched by lymphoma. Funds raised by Lymphoma Walk participants support LRF's vital mission of eradicating lymphoma and serving those touched by this disease. Since their inception, Lymphoma Walks have raised more than $15 million for innovative lymphoma research.

"The Massachusetts Lymphoma Walk is always such a great event in which members of the lymphoma community come together to support a worthy cause," said Laurie Alfano-

Cristaldi, LRF Senior Community Engagement Manager, Northeast Region. "Our ultimate goal is to find a cure for lymphoma and the funds raised through this Walk from our generous supporters will help to bring us one step closer to that end."

Lymphoma is the most common blood cancer in adults and the third most common cancer overall in children. According to the American Cancer Society, there are approximately 200 Americans diagnosed with lymphoma every day. That means every seven minutes someone is diagnosed with lymphoma.

To register to participate in or volunteer at the Massachusetts Lymphoma Walk, please visit <http://lrf.donordrive.com/Event/Massachusetts>. There is no registration fee and all ages are welcome to walk for LRF.

About the Lymphoma Research Foundation
The Lymphoma Research Foundation (LRF) is the nation's largest non-profit organization devoted to funding innovative research and serving the lymphoma community through a comprehensive series of education programs, outreach initiatives and patient services. To date, LRF has awarded more than $55 million in lymphoma-specific research.

For additional information on LRF's research, education and services, visit lymphoma.org.

Announcing the 4th annual Newport Craft Beer Festival

Cosponsored by Newport Storm Brewery and Pour Judgement Bar & Grille, the Newport Craft Beer Festival returns for a fourth year and is now officially a 2day festival! Save the date, or should we say dates, for Friday, May 8th and Saturday, May 9th 2015 to taste the delicacies brought to you by 35 of the nations craft breweries. The Friday night session will be held 8:10pm at the Newport Storm Brewery and 2 sessions (noon-3pm & 4-7pm) will be held under a huge tent at the Great Friends Meeting House in downtown Newport, RI!

The addition of the Friday evening session the VIB (Very Important Beers!) Event will feature beers from festival brewers not available on Saturday, a much smaller, intimate setting in exclusive areas of the Newport Storm Brewery, with some of the festival's brewery staff in attendance!

Saturday's 2 sessions will feature craft breweries from all over the country on the lawn of one of Newport's most historical sites (operated by the Newport Historical Society), showing off their finest! Each brewery is required to send staff employed by the brewery so guests can pick their brains and learn all about each beer first hand from people who help make, market, design and tastetest each brew! The festival also emphasizes local, Rhode Island beers, with "Guild Row," a special area under the festival tent where guests can easily access all the Rhody beers in one spot, as the Newport Craft Beer Fest's proceeds benefit the Rhode Island Brewers Guild, a not for profit organization that supports Ocean State craft breweries. Over the last 3 years, the Festival has raised an estimated $30,000 for the Guild and hopes to continue that trend.

Guests will have the opportunity to sample beers from all the breweries present, keep the commemorative tasting glass, and declare their favorite brewery by voting for the 2nd Annual Fan Favorite Award, as well as get a taste of the 'local flavor' from Newport restaurants offering their best plates while listening to live bands at each session.

"It's hard to top the event each year, but this

mer Pennsylvania state boxing commissioner.

Bochetto didn't disclose how much he paid to gain an equal share in the home.

Weiss bought the house for $70,000 in 2012, but his plans to restore the house had seemingly stalled. Bochetto hopes to inject new energy and money into the project.

Restoring the exterior and interior could cost hundreds of thousands of dollars, Bochetto said.

"We're going to be self-funded on this whole project," he said. "There's not going to be any obstacles to our accomplishing what we want to do, at least no financial obstacles."

Bochetto counts himself among the former champ's admirers. Ali was in his prime during "the golden era of heavyweights, and he was the best of the best," Bochetto said.

The new partners "share the same vision" for the home, but they are still working out details about their plans to restore the house as a tribute to the boxing great and humanitarian, he said.

"We're certainly not getting into this thing to try to run a tourist trap and make money," Bochetto said. "To me, that would be completely demeaning of the historic significance of this house."

The project will include purchasing an adjacent property that has a vacant house on it. The property could be used for parking or for a reception center for visitors, though plans haven't been finalized, Bochetto said.

The investors have a contract to purchase the property for $50,000, current owner Lawrence Montgomery Sr. said.

Montgomery, who lives across the street, said the old Clay house already draws plenty of visitors, including people in tour buses. They stop to take pictures and read a historical marker, he said. Montgomery said he's glad the plans to restore the home may be making headway.

"It's been sitting over there for two or three years idle, nothing going on," he said.

Montgomery remembers Ali as a "very jolly, happy" youngster, "always running up and down the street."

The Courier-Journal first reported Bochetto's involvement in the venture.

ers' suite and the combination kitchen/dining room. The owners' suite has another eight skylights in its vaulted ceiling. Diamond-shaped windows, nestled under the peak of the roof at opposite ends of the room, add still more light. The sleeping area has an eye-level window, for enjoying the scenery, and a glass door that opens onto a private balcony.

Built as a loft, the owners' suite is open to the living room below and is unique in having an 11-by-10-foot upper loft that overlooks the sleeping area. Other amenities include a private bathroom and walk-in closet.

Tall windows brighten the kitchen/dining area on two sides. A set of doors opens onto a large deck. Another set of windows, over the sink, allows full appreciation of the outdoor setting. A range and oven, built into the eating bar, and a wet bar in the dining room, make food service convenient.

Two bedrooms, a small utility room and a bathroom complete the Cascade's ground floor. The steep metal roof shrugs off snow with ease.

Cascade vacation home has 16 skylights

Artificial light will rarely be necessary during daylight hours in the Chalet-style Cascade. This modified A-Frame house plan vacation home boasts a grand total of 16 skylights and is rich in windows as well.

While all of the rooms are bright, the vaulted living room clearly wins the prize. In addition to the eight skylights in the high, exposed-beam ceiling, this room has two floor-to-ceiling glass doors and four equally large windows. Four smaller custom windows flank the fireplace. The spaciousness will remind you of a Chalet house plan.

Bochetto becomes a partner with Jared Weiss of Las Vegas in the venture to restore the home to how it looked when Ali lived there decades ago.
